Salesforce Certified Identity and Access Management Architect Sample Questions (Q168-Q173):

NEW QUESTION # 168
A financial services company uses Salesforce and has a compliance requirement to track information about devices from which users log in. Also, a Salesforce Security Administrator needs to have the ability to revoke the device from which users log in.
What should be used to fulfill this requirement?

- A. Use multi-factor authentication (MFA) to meet the compliance requirement to track device information.
- B. Use the Activations feature to meet the compliance requirement to track device information.
- C. Use Login Flows to capture device from which users log in and store device and user information in a custom object.
- D. Use the Login History object to track information about devices from which users log in.

Answer: B

Explanation:
Explanation
To track information about devices from which users log in and revoke the device access, the identity architect should use the Activations feature. Activations are records that store information about the devices and browsers that users use to access Salesforce. Administrators can view, manage, and revoke activations for users from the Setup menu. Activations can help monitor and control user access from different devices.

NEW QUESTION # 169
An administrator created a connected app for a custom wet) application in Salesforce which needs to be visible as a tile in App Launcher The tile for the custom web application is missing in the app launcher for all users in Salesforce. The administrator requested assistance from an identity architect to resolve the issue.
Which two reasons are the source of the issue?
Choose 2 answers

- A. StartURL for the connected app is not set in Connected App settings.
- B. Session Policy is set as 'High Assurance Session required' for this connected app.
- C. OAuth scope does not include "openid*.
- D. The connected app is not set in the App menu as "Visible in App Launcher".

Answer: A,D

Explanation:
The StartURL for the connected app is required to specify the landing page for the app. The connected app must also be set as visible in the App Launcher to appear as a tile for users. References: Connected App Basics, Manage Connected Apps

NEW QUESTION # 170
Universal Containers built a custom mobile app for their field reps to create orders in Salesforce. OAuth is used for authenticating mobile users. The app is built in such a way that when a user session expires after Initial login, a new access token is obtained automatically without forcing the user to log in again. While that improved the field reps' productivity, UC realized that they need a "logout" feature.

What should the logout function perform in this scenario, where user sessions are refreshed automatically?

- A. Clear out the client Id to stop auto session refresh.
- B. Clear out all the tokens to stop auto session refresh.
- C. Invoke the revocation URL and pass the access token.
- D. Invoke the revocation URL and pass the refresh token.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Explanation
The refresh token is used to obtain a new access token when the previous one expires. To revoke the user session, the logout function should invoke the revocation URL and pass the refresh token as a parameter. This will invalidate both the refresh token and the access token, and prevent the user from accessing Salesforce without logging in again2.

NEW QUESTION # 171

Universal Containers (UC) is using its production org as the identity provider for a new Experience Cloud site and the identity architect is deciding which login experience to use for the site.
Which two page types are valid login page types for the site?
Choose 2 answers

- A. lightning Experience Page
- B. Experience Builder Page
- C. Login Discovery Page
- D. Embedded Login Page

Answer: C,D

Explanation:
Login Discovery Page and Embedded Login Page are two valid login page types for Experience Cloud sites.
Login Discovery Page allows users to choose their preferred login method, such as username/password, SSO, or social sign-on.

NEW QUESTION # 172

A third-party app provider would like to have users provisioned via a service endpoint before users access their app from Salesforce.
What should an identity architect recommend to configure the requirement with limited changes to the third-party app?

- A. Redirect users to the third-party app for registration.
- B. Use Salesforce identity with Security Assertion Markup Language (SAML) for provisioning users.
- C. Create Canvas app in Salesforce for third-party app to provision users.
- D. Use a connected app with user provisioning flow.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Explanation
To have users provisioned via a service endpoint before users access their app from Salesforce, the identity architect should recommend using a connected app with user provisioning flow. A connected app is a framework that enables an external application to integrate with Salesforce using APIs and standard protocols.
A user provisioning flow is a custom post-authentication process that can be used to create or update users in the external application using service endpoint when users access the connected app from Salesforce. This approach can provide automatic user provisioning with limited changes to the third-party app. References:
