IAPP Certified Information Privacy Technologist (CIPT) Sample Questions (Q17-Q22):

NEW QUESTION # 17

What is the main benefit of using dummy data during software testing?

- A. The data comes in a format convenient for testing.
- B. Statistical disclosure controls are applied to the data.
- C. Developers do not need special privacy training to test the software.
- D. The data enables the suppression of particular values in a set.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 18

What would be an example of an organization transferring the risks associated with a data breach?

- A. Purchasing insurance to cover the organization in case of a breach.
- B. Using a third-party service to process credit card transactions.
- C. Applying industry standard data handling practices to the organization's practices.
- D. Encrypting sensitive personal data during collection and storage

Answer: A

Explanation:

Risk transfer involves shifting the potential negative consequences of a risk to a third party. By purchasing insurance, an organization transfers the financial risk associated with a data breach to the insurance company.

This is a common practice to mitigate the impact of data breaches.

NEW QUESTION # 19

Which of the following findings during a code review is most likely to suggest a privacy vulnerability?

- A. Comments in the code referencing internal documentation.
- B. Hardcoded test users with real email addresses.
- C. Conditional logic based on device language settings.
- D. Extensive use of inheritance in class structures.

Answer: B

Explanation:

CIPT emphasizes that using real personal data in development or test environments is a direct privacy risk because:

- * Test environments often lack the same security controls
- * Personal data becomes exposed unnecessarily
- * Violates data minimization and purpose limitation
- * Increases risk of accidental disclosure or breach

Hardcoded test users with real email addresses is a red flag, indicating:

- * Personal data improperly stored in source code
- * Limited ability to delete or manage the data
- * Exposure to developers, contractors, or repositories
- * Increased breach and compliance risk

This aligns with:

- * CIPT principles for secure development
- * Privacy-by-design rules prohibiting real data in dev/test
- * ISO/IEC 29134 PIA risk detection
- * NIST SP 800-53 control failures (MP, SC, AC families)

Why other options are not privacy vulnerabilities:

- * A: Inheritance structure is an engineering practice, not a privacy risk.
- * C: Language settings are benign preference data.
- * D: Comments are not a privacy vulnerability (unless they contain sensitive data).

NEW QUESTION # 20

What is the best way to protect privacy on a geographic information system (GIS)?

- A. Limiting the data provided to the system
- B. Scrambling location information.
- C. Using a wireless encryption protocol.
- D. Using a firewall.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 21

SCENARIO

You have just been hired by Ancillary.com, a seller of accessories for everything under the sun, including waterproof stickers for pool floats and decorative bands and cases for sunglasses. The company sells cell phone cases, e-cigarette cases, wine spouts, hanging air fresheners for homes and automobiles, book ends, kitchen implements, visors and shields for computer screens, passport holders, gardening tools and lawn ornaments, and catalogs full of health and beauty products. The list seems endless. As the CEO likes to say, Ancillary offers, without doubt, the widest assortment of low-price consumer products from a single company anywhere.

Ancillary's operations are similarly diverse. The company originated with a team of sales consultants selling home and beauty products at small parties in the homes of customers, and this base business is still thriving. However, the company now sells online through retail sites designated for industries and demographics, sites such as "My Cool Ride" for automobile-related products or "Zoomer" for gear aimed toward young adults. The company organization includes a plethora of divisions, units and outtrigger operations, as Ancillary has been built along a decentered model rewarding individual initiative and flexibility, while also acquiring key assets. The retail sites seem to all function differently, and you wonder about their compliance with regulations and industry standards. Providing tech support to these sites is also a challenge, partly due to a variety of logins and authentication protocols. You have been asked to lead three important new projects at Ancillary:

The first is the personal data management and security component of a multi-faceted initiative to unify the company's culture. For this project, you are considering using a series of third-party servers to provide company data and approved applications to employees. The second project involves providing point of sale technology for the home sales force, allowing them to move beyond paper checks and manual credit card imprinting.

Finally, you are charged with developing privacy protections for a single web store housing all the company's product lines as well as products from affiliates. This new omnibus site will be known, aptly, as "Under the Sun." The Director of Marketing wants the site not only to sell Ancillary's products, but to link to additional products from other retailers through paid advertisements. You need to brief the executive team of security concerns posed by this approach.

Which should be used to allow the home sales force to accept payments using smartphones?

- A. Cross-current translation.
- B. Radio Frequency Identification
- C. Field transfer protocol.
- D. Near-field communication

Answer: D
