WGU Financial Management VBC1 Sample Questions (Q60-Q65):

NEW QUESTION # 60
What is a primary goal of managing accounts receivable through credit policies?

- A. To eliminate accounts receivable entirely
- B. To maximize sales regardless of cash flow impact
- C. To balance customer convenience with the firm's cash flow needs
- D. To transition all sales to cash-only transactions

Answer: C

Explanation:
The primary objective of accounts receivable management is to strike an optimal balance between increasing sales and maintaining healthy cash flows. Extending credit can stimulate demand and improve competitiveness, but excessive or poorly managed credit policies can lead to delayed cash inflows, higher bad debt losses, and increased financing costs. Financial management theory emphasizes evaluating credit standards, credit terms, and collection policies to ensure that the marginal benefit from additional sales exceeds the marginal cost of carrying receivables. These costs include opportunity costs of tied-up capital, administrative expenses, and default risk. Effective receivables management supports liquidity while preserving customer relationships. Option D accurately reflects this balanced objective, whereas the other options ignore either revenue growth or cash flow discipline.

NEW QUESTION # 61
How does asset tangibility affect a company's capital structure?

- A. By influencing the company's ability to issue convertible bonds
- B. By influencing the company's dividend payout ratio
- C. By influencing the company's ability to secure debt financing
- D. By influencing the company's decision to enter new markets

Answer: C

Explanation:
Asset tangibility directly affects a firm's ability to obtain debt financing because lenders prefer collateral-backed loans. Firms with higher tangible assets face lower borrowing constraints and typically carry higher leverage. This relationship is well documented in capital structure research and financial management textbooks. Tangible assets reduce credit risk and expected losses in default, allowing firms to raise debt more easily and at lower cost. Option B correctly captures this core capital structure relationship.

NEW QUESTION # 62
What is the significance of Section 302 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act (SOX)?

- A. It requires management to certify the accuracy of financial reports.
- B. It allows companies to opt out of internal control reporting.
- C. It relaxes the requirements for internal control.
- D. It requires the external auditor to take responsibility for financial accuracy.

Answer: A

Explanation:
Section 302 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act requires a company's chief executive officer (CEO) and chief financial officer (CFO) to personally certify the accuracy and completeness of financial statements and disclosures. This certification affirms that management is responsible for establishing and maintaining effective internal controls and has evaluated their effectiveness. The provision was introduced to enhance accountability and restore investor confidence following major accounting scandals. By placing legal responsibility directly on senior executives, Section 302 strengthens corporate governance and reduces the likelihood of fraudulent reporting. Financial management and governance literature consistently highlight this section as a cornerstone of SOX compliance. Option A accurately reflects its purpose.

NEW QUESTION # 63
How do financial markets reduce the cost for companies to obtain financing from the sale of equity?

- A. By ensuring all trades are made
- B. By limiting the number of trades per day for each security
- C. By providing liquidity for securities to be sold
- D. By reducing the total number of trades that occur

Answer: C

Explanation:
Financial markets reduce the cost of obtaining equity financing primarily by providing liquidity. Liquidity means that investors can buy and sell securities quickly and with relatively low transaction costs. When investors know they can easily sell shares in an active market, they are more willing to purchase newly issued stock in the first place. This stronger investor demand helps firms raise capital more efficiently and often at a better price. In other words, a liquid market lowers the return investors require for holding the stock, which reduces the firm's cost of equity capital. This is important in financial management because a lower cost of capital increases the number of investment projects that can create value for shareholders. The other choices do not explain the real benefit of organized financial markets. Merely ensuring all trades are made does not address financing cost. Limiting or reducing the number of trades would generally make markets less efficient and less liquid, not more attractive to investors. Therefore, C is the correct answer because liquidity is one of the key services financial markets provide, and it directly supports firms' ability to raise equity capital at a lower cost.

NEW QUESTION # 64
Why might a firm use a combination of methods to calculate the cost of common equity?

- A. To focus exclusively on dividend policies
- B. To comply with regulatory requirements
- C. To account for one method being significantly more complex
- D. To achieve a more accurate and comprehensive estimate

Answer: D
