NEW QUESTION # 58

Which firewall port needs to be open between your CX switches and RADIUS server for authentication?

- A. TCP port 49
- B. UDP port 53
- C. TCP port 1813
- D. UDP port 1812

Answer: D

Explanation:

RADIUS authentication uses UDP port 1812, which must be open between the CX switches and the RADIUS server to allow authentication requests and responses.

NEW QUESTION # 59

A network is being designed to support voice, video, and data. A Solutions Architect needs to explain to the customer why simply having a high-bandwidth network (e.g., 10 Gbps links) is not enough to guarantee high-quality voice and video calls.

Which statements accurately describe the significance of QoS in this high-bandwidth converged network? (Select all that apply.)

- A. Even on high-bandwidth links, microbursts of traffic can cause momentary congestion, leading to jitter and packet loss for real-time applications.
- B. QoS ensures that even if the link is not fully saturated, delay-sensitive packets (like VoIP) are always processed and forwarded first by the switch.
- C. QoS allows the network to provide predictable and reliable service for critical applications, regardless of the other traffic on the network.
- D. QoS is primarily for low-bandwidth networks (less than 1 Gbps).
- E. QoS is not needed because the high bandwidth prevents all forms of congestion.

Answer: A,B,C

NEW QUESTION # 60

On a switched infrastructure using Spanning Tree, what entity defines the best path for traffic in an HPE Aruba Networking CX environment?

- A. Common bridge
- B. Root bridge
- C. Designated bridge
- D. Alternative bridge

Answer: B

Explanation:

The correct answer is A. Root bridge. In a switched infrastructure using Spanning Tree Protocol, the root bridge is the central reference point for calculating the loop-free Layer 2 topology. HPE Aruba Networking AOS-CX documentation explains that device roles, such as root bridge or leaf node, should be planned by adjusting spanning tree instance priority. It also notes that the placement of root bridges is important in a Layer 2 network domain because deterministic root and secondary root bridges provide predictability and protection. Switches calculate their best path toward the root bridge based on spanning tree information such as bridge priority, path cost, and port roles. This calculation determines which ports forward and which ports block to prevent loops. Option B is incorrect because a designated bridge or designated port forwards traffic for a segment but does not define the overall topology reference point. Option C is incorrect because

"alternative bridge" is not the entity that defines best path selection. Option D is incorrect because "common bridge" is not the correct

STP role.

NEW QUESTION # 61

A Solutions Architect is presenting a network design that includes both campus access layer switches (like the CX 6300) and data center switches (like the CX 8325). The customer is concerned about the complexity of managing different operating systems. What is a key software differentiator of the HPE Aruba Networking switching portfolio that addresses this concern?

- A. The data center switches run AOS-CX, while the campus switches run the legacy ArubaOS-Switch software.
- B. All CX switches run the same network operating system, AOS-CX, providing a consistent experience.
- C. The switches can be ordered with a choice of either AOS-CX or a third-party open network operating system
- D. Each switch series runs a completely different operating system optimized for its specific role.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 62

A technician has just installed a new 550-series access point, which is cabled back to a CX 6100- series switch. However, there are no lights on the AP.

What could cause this?

- A. The AP can't connect to HPE Aruba Networking Central.
- B. The wrong VLAN has been configured.
- C. STP has not been configured.
- D. The cable is faulty.

Answer: D

Explanation:

If there are no lights on the AP, the most likely cause is a physical layer issue, such as a faulty cable preventing power (PoE) and connectivity.
