ISQI ISTQB Foundation Level - Acceptance Testing Sample Questions (Q36-Q41):

NEW QUESTION # 36
Which one of the following arguments is the BEST reason to add additional information to BPMN diagrams?

- A. Links to requires test equipment facilitate test case reviews of stakeholders
- B. Link to requirements / user stories enable testers to execute the tests
- C. Link to risks provide input to testers for selecting regression tests
- D. Link to priorities help test case authors to write comprehensive test cases

Answer: C

Explanation:

In BPMN models, additional annotations such as links to requirements, test data, or risks improve the value of the diagram for downstream stakeholders like testers. When BPMN tasks or flows are linked to known risks, testers can prioritize regression test cases accordingly - a key principle in risk-based testing.

Option D is correct because linking risks to business processes gives testers meaningful input for deciding which parts of the system require deeper or repeated testing.

Other options:

A: Priority links are useful, but less impactful than risk-based test selection.

B: Links to test equipment are not commonly embedded in process diagrams and are more relevant to hardware or system integration testing.

C: Linking to requirements helps traceability, but execution readiness is more closely tied to test cases and data than to BPMN.

D). Link to risks provide input to testers for selecting regression tests

NEW QUESTION # 37

As a tester on an Agile project, you have to perform an exploratory test session for a new feature developed.

Which of the following actions is the LEAST likely to be carried out for the purpose.

- A. Preparation of a test charter and review with the Product Owner
- B. Performing the tests and reporting the results
- C. Scripting of the automated test scripts
- D. Discovering and learning the use of the product

Answer: C

Explanation:

Exploratory testing is an unscripted, experience-based testing technique where the tester learns about the system, designs tests, and executes them simultaneously. It is especially effective in Agile environments, where rapid feedback and creative exploration are valuable.

Option D is the least likely action because scripting automated test scripts is a structured activity that typically occurs after exploratory sessions or during more formal test phases. Exploratory testing emphasizes manual exploration, not automation scripting.

Other options:

A is part of the core purpose of exploratory testing - discovering the product.

B is relevant - defining a charter and discussing it with stakeholders (like the Product Owner) helps guide the exploratory session.

C is also relevant - results of exploratory tests should be documented and communicated.

D). Scripting of the automated test scripts

NEW QUESTION # 38

Which one of the following statements regarding performance testing is MOST correct?

- A. Depending on the model used to simulate the workload, performance tests are called load, stress or endurance / stability tests.
- B. The performance test results serve to determine hardware and software performance requirements.
- C. Performance testing aims to determine a system's robustness against malicious attacks.
- D. The performance of the system is measured in a context that reflects, as far as possible, representative operating conditions.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Performance testing assesses how a system behaves under specific conditions, typically focusing on responsiveness, stability, and resource usage. The type of performance test depends on the workload model:

Load testing evaluates performance under expected peak usage.

Stress testing pushes the system beyond its capacity to assess limits.

Endurance/stability testing checks for performance degradation over extended periods.

Option A correctly describes that performance test types are determined by the workload simulation strategy.

Other options:

B confuses performance with security testing - malicious attack robustness is a security focus, not performance.

C is partly correct but less comprehensive than A. While testing should simulate realistic conditions, categorization into stress/load/endurance is better aligned with workload modeling.

D is misleading - performance tests validate systems against performance requirements; they are not primarily used to define them.
A). Depending on the model used to simulate the workload, performance tests are called load, stress or endurance / stability tests.

NEW QUESTION # 39

Which one of the following answers lists characteristic of quality in use according to the quality in use model defined in ISO 25010?

- A. Satisfaction
- B. Security
- C. Freedom of interference
- D. User experience

Answer: A

Explanation:
According to ISO/IEC 25010:2011, the "Quality in Use" model includes characteristics that measure the system's impact on stakeholders during actual usage in a specific context.
The four main characteristics of Quality in Use are:
Effectiveness
Efficiency
Satisfaction
Freedom from Risk
Option C is correct because "Satisfaction" is one of the core quality-in-use characteristics and refers to the degree to which user needs are fulfilled in context.
Other options:
A (User experience) is a broader term not formally defined as a Quality in Use characteristic in ISO 25010.
B (Security) is part of the product quality model, not quality in use.
D (Freedom of interference) is not a defined term in ISO 25010; it may be a misstatement of "freedom from risk."

NEW QUESTION # 40

Which one of the following statements defines beta testing BEST?

- A. Beta testing is performed by developers at the customer's location.
- B. During beta testing, genuine users define the acceptance criteria for various realistic configurations.
- C. Beta testing takes place early in the development process to acquire feedback from the market.
- D. Beta testers discover defects in the product that escaped during the development process.

Answer: D
