Scrum Professional Scrum Product Owner II Sample Questions (Q14-Q19):

NEW QUESTION # 14

A team works on 4 different products, splitting their time between them because none of the products has enough work to warrant a dedicated team.

What strategy on how they use their time would potentially deliver the most value to customers over time? (choose the best answer)

- A. Either strategy will deliver the same value.
- B. Focus on one product at a time, release it, then move to the next product.
- C. Work a little on each product all the time, releasing when needed.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 15

Sharing people with unique skills across multiple teams will likely result in which of the following conditions?
(choose the best answer)

- A. Teams do not have to develop deep technical skills.
- B. Costs are lower since expensive resources are shared.
- C. More work gets done since people are better utilized.
- D. Teams may wait more often, impeding the delivery of value.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 16

Which of the following activities should a Product Owner never do?
(choose the best answer)

- A. Establish a Product Goal.
- B. Accept work done during the Sprint.
- C. Dictate the Sprint Goal.
- D. Decide when to release the product Increment.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

According to the Professional Scrum Product Owner™ II certification guide¹, the Sprint Goal is the single objective for the Sprint. It is a commitment made by the Scrum Team during Sprint Planning. The Sprint Goal provides guidance to the Developers on why it is valuable to build a coherent Increment. The Product Owner proposes how the product could increase its value and utility in the current Sprint. The whole Scrum Team then collaborates to define a Sprint Goal that communicates why the Sprint is valuable to stakeholders. The Product Owner should not dictate the Sprint Goal, but rather collaborate with the Developers and the Scrum Master to create a shared understanding and alignment. The other options are not activities that a Product Owner should never do, because they are either part of the Product Owner's accountabilities (A, C, D) or may be done in collaboration with others (A, D).

NEW QUESTION # 17

How can organizations benefit from creating and running experiments? (choose the best answer)

- A. None of the above.
- B. All of the above.
- C. Experiments can help organizations test how effective an improvement is.
- D. Experiments can help organizations test whether features are delivering value.
- E. Experiments can help organizations validate assumptions.
- F. Experiments can help organizations determine the feasibility of a goal.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 18

The DISC is a model that divides behavior into four personality types: -Dominance - People with the D style tend to be direct, firm or even forceful. They value taking action and getting results and generally are competitive. -Influence - People with the I style tend to be outgoing, enthusiastic and generally are optimistic in nature. Like the D style, they like to take action and are more collaborative than competitive. -Steadiness - People with the S style tend to be patient and accommodating. They enjoy stability and much like the i style tend to be collaborative and enjoy being helpful. -Conscientiousness - People with the C style are usually analytical and reserved. Similar to the S style, they prefer stability, but their priority on accuracy will cause them to challenge assumptions.

What would be the best way when approaching a stakeholder with a mostly Dominant trait? (choose the best two answers)

- A. Convince him/her to escalate the problems.
- B. Offering him/her solutions
- C. Build empathy and ask him/her for advice.
- D. Providing him/her with options.
