NEW QUESTION # 354

What is the effect of enabling the disable Remote EP learn feature?

- A. It limits learning of compute leaf endpoints on border leaves.
- B. It prevents border leaf switches from receiving routes through peering with external routers.
- C. It disables remote IP endpoint learning on all leaf nodes in the fabric.
- D. It disables remote IP endpoint learning on leaf switches that do not have L3Outs.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Enabling the "disable Remote EP learn" feature in Cisco ACI has the effect of preventing border leaf switches from receiving routes through peering with external routers. This feature is particularly useful when there is a mix of Gen1 and Gen2 hardware in the fabric, as it clears all the remote endpoints from the border leaf only. Traffic will still use hardware proxy if the endpoint is not learned on the border leaf, ensuring no operational impact.

- A. The Management VMkernel EPG resolution must be set to Pre-Provision.
- B. The administrator must create an in-band VMM Management EPG before performing the migration.
- C. The administrator must set the Management VMkernel BD resolution immediacy to On-Demand.
- D. The VMkernel Management BD must be located under the Management Tenant.

Answer: A

Explanation:

When migrating the vSphere Management VMkernel of all ESXi hosts from the standard default virtual switch to a Virtual Distributed Switch (VDS) that is integrated with APIC in a VMM domain, it is essential to set the Management VMkernel EPG resolution to Pre-Provision.
