NEW QUESTION # 275

Which of the following statements best describes the difference between covert and overt surveillance?

- A. Covert surveillances are used when there is knowledge of a criminal act, whereas overt surveillance is used when a criminal act is suspected.
- B. Overt surveillance may be used by public and private sector personnel, whereas covert surveillance may only be done by public law enforcement personnel.
- C. Covert surveillances are normally detection-oriented, whereas overt surveillances are usually prevention-oriented.
- D. Notice of overt surveillance must always be given, whereas covert surveillance may be conducted without the suspect or target's knowledge.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The key difference between covert and overt surveillance lies in the awareness of the target. Covert surveillance is conducted discreetly, without the target's knowledge, to collect information without altering the subject's behavior. Overt surveillance, on the other hand, is openly visible and often used as a deterrent to prevent criminal activity. Overt surveillance usually involves informing individuals of its presence through signage or policies.

ASIS Certified Protection Professional (CPP) References:

* Surveillance Techniques: CPP materials distinguish between covert and overt surveillance methods, focusing on their application and ethical considerations.

* Legal Compliance in Surveillance: Guidelines emphasize informing individuals about overt surveillance to comply with privacy laws.
