IAPP Certified Information Privacy Professional/Europe (CIPP/E) Sample Questions (Q250-Q255):

NEW QUESTION # 250

Under Article 9 of the GDPR, which of the following categories of data is NOT expressly prohibited from data processing?

- A. Personal data revealing ethnic origin.
- B. Personal data revealing trade union membership.
- C. Personal data revealing genetic data.
- D. Personal data revealing financial data.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Article 9 of the GDPR prohibits the processing of special categories of personal data, which are data that reveal sensitive information about the data subject and may pose a high risk to their rights and freedoms. The GDPR defines 10 types of personal data as special categories, which are:

- * personal data revealing racial or ethnic origin;
- * personal data revealing political opinions;
- * personal data revealing religious or philosophical beliefs;
- * personal data revealing trade union membership;
- * genetic data;
- * biometric data (where used for identification purposes);
- * data concerning health;
- * data concerning a person's sex life; and
- * data concerning a person's sexual orientation.

Among the answer choices, only option C is not one of these categories, as financial data is not considered to reveal any sensitive information about the data subject. However, financial data is still subject to the general principles and rules of the GDPR, such as lawfulness, fairness, transparency, accuracy, security, etc.

NEW QUESTION # 251

What is the main purpose of the EU Data Act?

- A. To regulate individuals' privacy rights and the processing of their personal data.
- B. To enable the processing and transfer of non-personal data within the EU.
- C. To allow users of connected devices to access data generated by their use.
- D. To facilitate the voluntary sharing of data between individuals and businesses.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The EU Data Act aims to increase access to data generated by connected devices (IoT devices), ensuring fair use and promoting data-driven innovation across the EU.

Key purposes of the EU Data Act:

- * Granting users access to data generated by their devices (Answer Choice B - Correct Answer)
- * One of the Act's primary objectives is to allow users of smart devices, IoT systems, and connected industrial tools to access and control data generated by their devices.
- * Improving non-personal data sharing (Answer Choice A - Incorrect)
- * While the Act does facilitate the transfer of non-personal data, its primary focus is on device-generated data access, rather than simply allowing free movement of non-personal data.
- * Encouraging data-sharing frameworks (Answer Choice C - Incorrect)
- * The Act does promote data-sharing between businesses, but this is not its main goal. It primarily ensures that users retain control over data produced by their devices.
- * Not primarily about personal data protection (Answer Choice D - Incorrect)

* The GDPR (General Data Protection Regulation) is the primary regulation that deals with personal data protection. The Data Act does not introduce new privacy rules but instead focuses on non-personal data management.

NEW QUESTION # 252

To which of the following parties does the territorial scope of the GDPR NOT apply?

- A. All member countries party to the Paris Agreement.
- B. All member countries of the European Economic Area.
- C. All member countries of the European Union.
- D. All member countries party to the Treaty of Lisbon.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The territorial scope of the GDPR is determined by Article 3 of the Regulation, which sets out two main criteria for applying the GDPR to the processing of personal data: the establishment criterion and the targeting criterion. The establishment criterion applies to the processing of personal data in the context of the activities of an establishment of a controller or a processor in the EU, regardless of whether the processing takes place in the EU or not. The targeting criterion applies to the processing of personal data of data subjects who are in the EU by a controller or processor not established in the EU, where the processing activities are related to the offering of goods or services to such data subjects in the EU or the monitoring of their behaviour as far as their behaviour takes place within the EU. In addition, the GDPR applies to the processing of personal data by a controller not established in the EU, but in a place where Member State law applies by virtue of public international law.

Therefore, the territorial scope of the GDPR does not depend on the membership of a country to a particular international agreement or organisation, but on the location and activities of the controller or processor and the data subjects involved in the processing. The Paris Agreement is an international treaty on climate change that aims to limit global warming and reduce greenhouse gas emissions. It does not have any direct or indirect relevance to the GDPR or the protection of personal data. Hence, being a party to the Paris Agreement does not affect the applicability of the GDPR to a country or a controller or processor established in that country.

The other options are incorrect because they are either directly or indirectly related to the GDPR or the protection of personal data. The European Economic Area (EEA) consists of all EU member states plus Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway. The EEA Agreement allows these three countries to participate in the EU's internal market and to adopt most of the EU legislation, including the GDPR. Therefore, the GDPR applies to all EEA countries as if they were EU member states. The Treaty of Lisbon is an international agreement that amends the two treaties which form the constitutional basis of the EU. The Treaty of Lisbon introduces several changes to the EU's institutional structure, decision-making process, and policy areas, including the recognition of the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the EU as legally binding. The Charter of Fundamental Rights of the EU includes the right to the protection of personal data as a fundamental right, and provides the legal basis for the GDPR. Therefore, the GDPR applies to all EU member states that are parties to the Treaty of Lisbon. The European Union (EU) is a political and economic union of 27 member states that are located primarily in Europe. The EU has developed an internal single market through a standardised system of laws that apply in all member states, including the GDPR. Therefore, the GDPR applies to all EU member states by virtue of their membership to the EU.
