Juniper Junos, Associate (JNCIA-Junos) Sample Questions (Q98-Q103):

NEW QUESTION #98

Which process in the Junos OS is responsible for maintaining routing protocols and tables?

- · A. chassisd
- B. dcd
- C. rpd
- D. mgd

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Routing Protocol Daemon (rpd) in Junos OS is responsible for maintaining routing protocols and tables. It handles all routing information, including the calculation of routes and the population of the routing table, making it crucial for dynamic routing operations.

NEW QUESTION #99

Which protocol is responsible for learning an IPv4 neighbor's MAC address?

- A. Media Access Control Security (MACsec)
- B. Address Resolution Protocol (ARP)
- C. Neighbor Discovery Protocol (NDP)
- D. Network Address Translation (NAT)

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Address Resolution Protocol (ARP) is responsible for mapping an IPv4 address to a machine's MAC address. ARP operates at Layer 2 of the OSI model and is used to find the MAC address of a host given its IPv4 address. When a device wants to communicate with another device on the same local network, it uses ARP to discover the recipient's MAC address.

Reference:

Juniper official documentation: ARP.

Networking standards: RFC 826.

NEW QUESTION # 100

Which two actions happen when multiple users issue the configure exclusive command to enter configuration mode on a Junos device? (Choose two.)

- A. Other users cannot enter configuration mode.
- B. The candidate configuration is unlocked.
- C. The candidate configuration is locked.
- D. Other users can enter configuration mode.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

In Junos OS, when a user issues the configure exclusive command, it locks the candidate configuration for that user, preventing other users from making concurrent configuration changes. This exclusive lock ensures that configuration changes are managed in a controlled manner, reducing the risk of conflicting changes. As a result, while one user is in exclusive configuration mode, other users are prevented from entering configuration mode until the lock is released, either by the user committing the changes or exiting configuration mode.

NEW QUESTION # 101

Which two statements are true about the Junos OS? (Choose two.)

- A. Routing tables are stored in the control plane.
- B. Routing tables are stored in the forwarding plane.
- C. Exception traffic is never sent to the control plane.
- D. Exception traffic is sent to the control plane.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

In Junos OS, as with many network operating systems, the control plane is responsible for processes that determine how to route traffic. This includes maintaining routing tables, which store information about network paths and protocols. Therefore, routing tables are indeed stored in the control plane.

Exception traffic refers to packets that cannot be processed by the normal fast-path processing of the Packet Forwarding Engine (PFE) in the forwarding plane, and thus are sent to the control plane for further processing. This might include packets destined for the router itself, packets that need to be fragmented, or packets that match certain firewall filter criteria, among other reasons. Routing tables are not stored in the forwarding plane. However, the forwarding plane contains the forwarding table (sometimes referred to as the forwarding information base or FIB), which is a distilled version of the routing table optimized for fast packet forwarding. The forwarding plane uses this information to perform the actual transfer of packets across the network device interfaces.

NEW QUESTION # 102

Which command displays all IPv6 routes in the default routing instance?

- A. showroute table inet.0
- B. showroute table inet6.1
- C. showroute table inet.1
- D. showroute table inet6.0

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Junos OS, the command to display IPv6 routes in the default routing instance isshow route table inet.0.0. The routing tableinet6.0 specifically holds IPv6 routes. The commandshow route table inet.0 is used for IPv4 routes, and inet6.1 or inet.1 (assuming inet.1 is a typo for inet.1) are not standard Junos routing tables for displaying IPv6 routes in the default routing instance.
