Please choose the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 83

In an SAP Analytics Cloud planning data model, which dimensions are included by default? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Entity
- B. Organization
- C. Date
- D. Version

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

When creating a planning data model in SAP Analytics Cloud (SAC), certain dimensions are included by default to facilitate common planning scenarios. The two key dimensions automatically present are Version and Date. The Version dimension is crucial for distinguishing between different planning scenarios, such as "Actual," "Budget," "Forecast," or "Plan 2025," allowing users to compare and manage various iterations of their planning data. The Date dimension, on the other hand, is essential for time-based planning and analysis, enabling data entry, aggregation, and reporting across different time granularities like years, quarters, months, or days. These default dimensions provide a robust framework for financial and operational planning, serving as foundational elements around which planning activities are structured, and ensuring consistency and comparability across different planning versions and time periods.

NEW QUESTION # 84

What are some use cases for an SAP Datasphere task chain? Note: There are 3 correct answers to this question.

- A. Execute a Replication Flow and Transformation Flow in sequence
- B. Execute a data action for a planning function
- C. Run an Open SQL Schema Procedure
- D. Create or Refresh View Persistency
- E. Upload a CSV file into a local table

Answer: A,C,D

Explanation:

SAP Datasphere task chains are powerful tools for orchestrating and automating sequences of operations, making them ideal for managing complex data pipelines and recurring processes. One key use case is to Create or Refresh View Persistency (A). If you have views for which you want to persist the data (materialize them into tables) for performance or specific analytical needs, a task chain can automate the scheduled recreation or refresh of these persistent views. Another common use case is to Execute a Replication Flow and Transformation Flow in sequence (C). This allows you to define a process where data is first replicated from a source system into Datasphere, and then immediately followed by transformation steps to cleanse, enrich, or aggregate that data, ensuring a fully automated end-to-end data preparation. Furthermore, task chains can be used to Run an Open SQL Schema Procedure (D). This provides flexibility to integrate custom SQL logic or stored procedures into an automated workflow, enabling advanced data manipulation or administrative tasks. Uploading a CSV file (B) is typically a manual import action, and executing a data action for a planning function (E) relates to planning models, not general Datasphere task chains.

NEW QUESTION # 85

Which of the following can you do with an SAP Datasphere Data Flow? Note: There are 3 correct answers to this question.

- A. Integrate data from different sources into one table.
- B. Write data to a table in a different SAP Datasphere tenant.
- C. Delete records from a target table.
- D. Use a Python script for data transformation.
- E. Fill different target tables in parallel.

Answer: A,D,E

Explanation:

An SAP Datasphere Data Flow is a highly versatile and powerful tool for data integration, transformation, and loading. With a Data Flow, you can effectively integrate data from different sources into one table (B). This is a fundamental capability, allowing you to combine data from various tables, views, or even external connections, apply transformations, and consolidate it into a single target table. Another advanced capability is to fill different target tables in parallel (D). Data Flows are designed to handle complex scenarios efficiently, and this parallelism optimizes performance when you need to populate multiple destination tables simultaneously from a single flow. Furthermore, Data Flows support extensibility, allowing you to use a Python script for data transformation (E). This enables advanced, custom data manipulation logic that might not be available through standard graphical operations, providing immense flexibility for complex business rules. Writing data to a different Datasphere tenant (A) is not a direct capability of a Data Flow, and deleting records from a target table (C) is typically handled via specific operations within the target table's management or through SQL scripts rather than a standard data flow write operation.
