NEW QUESTION # 79

The Customer ID (CID) is important in which of the following scenarios?

- A. When setting up API keys

- B. When performing the sensor installation process
- C. When performing a Host Search
- D. When adding a user to the Falcon console under the Users application

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Customer ID (CID) is important in which of the following scenarios: when performing the sensor installation process and when setting up API keys. The CID is a unique identifier for your organization that is required for authenticating your sensor installation and communication with the Falcon cloud. You need to provide your CID when installing the Falcon sensor on a host, either by using a command-line parameter or by using the falconctl tool. The CID is also required for setting up API keys, which are used for accessing the Falcon platform programmatically via the Falcon APIs. You need to provide your CID when creating an API client and key in the API Clients and Keys page in the Falcon console.

NEW QUESTION # 80

Which of the following is TRUE regarding disabling detections for a host?

- A. After disabling detections, the data for all existing detections prior to disabling detections is removed from the Event Search
- B. The detections for that host are removed from the console immediately. No new detections will display in the console going forward unless detections are enabled
- C. The DetectionSummaryEvent continues being sent to the Streaming API for that host
- D. After disabling detections, the host will operate in Reduced Functionality Mode (RFM) until detections are enabled

Answer: B

Explanation:

The option that is true regarding disabling detections for a host is that the detections for that host are removed from the console immediately. No new detections will display in the console going forward unless detections are enabled. This option is essentially a repetition of question 127 and its answer. Disabling detections for a host will remove any existing detections for that host from the console and prevent any new detections from appearing in the console until detections are enabled again.

NEW QUESTION # 81

When would the No Action option be assigned to a hash in IOC Management?

- A. There is no such option as No Action available in the Falcon console
- B. Add the indicator to your allowlist and do not detect it
- C. When you want to save the indicator for later action, but do not want to block or allow it at this time
- D. Add the indicator to your blocklist and show it as a detection

Answer: C

Explanation:

The No Action option can be assigned to a hash in IOC Management when you want to save the indicator for later action, but do not want to block or allow it at this time. This option will neither detect nor prevent the execution of the hash, but will keep it in the IOC list for future reference.

The other options are either incorrect or not related to the No Action option.
