Microsoft Implementing Analytics Solutions Using Microsoft Fabric Sample Questions (Q16-Q21):

NEW QUESTION # 16

You have a Fabric tenant that contains a lakehouse.

You plan to query sales data files by using the SQL endpoint. The files will be in an Amazon Simple Storage Service (Amazon S3) storage bucket.

You need to recommend which file format to use and where to create a shortcut.

Which two actions should you include in the recommendation? Each correct answer presents part of the solution.

NOTE: Each correct answer is worth one point.

- A. Use the CSV format.
- B. Create a shortcut in the Tables section.
- C. Use the delta format.
- D. Create a shortcut in the Files section.
- E. Use the Parquet format

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

You should use the Parquet format (B) for the sales data files because it is optimized for performance with large datasets in analytical processing and create a shortcut in the Tables section (D) to facilitate SQL queries through the lakehouse's SQL endpoint.

Reference = The best practices for working with file formats and shortcuts in a lakehouse environment are covered in the lakehouse and SQL endpoint documentation provided by the cloud data platform services.

NEW QUESTION # 17

You need to resolve the issue with the pricing group classification.

How should you complete the T-SQL statement? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

* You should use CREATE VIEW to make the pricing group logic available for T-SQL queries.

* The CASE statement should be used to determine the pricing group based on the list price.

The T-SQL statement should create a view that classifies products into pricing groups based on the list price.

The CASE statement is the correct conditional logic to assign each product to the appropriate pricing group.

This view will standardize the pricing group logic across different databases and semantic models.

NEW QUESTION # 18

You have a Fabric workspace named Workspace1 and an Azure SQL database.

You plan to create a dataflow that will read data from the database, and then transform the data by performing an inner join.

You need to ignore spaces in the values when performing the inner join. The solution must minimize development effort.

What should you do?

- A. Merge the queries by using fuzzy matching.
- B. Merge the queries by using a lookup table.
- C. Append the queries by using fuzzy matching.
- D. Append the queries by using a lookup table.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Fuzzy Matching: Fuzzy matching allows you to match data even when there are minor differences, such as extra spaces, in the values. This eliminates the need to manually clean or preprocess the data before the join.

NEW QUESTION # 19

You have a Fabric tenant that contains a warehouse.

A user discovers that a report that usually takes two minutes to render has been running for 45 minutes and has still not rendered.

You need to identify what is preventing the report query from completing.

Which dynamic management view (DMV) should you use?

- A. sys.dm_exec_sessions
- B. sys.dm_pdw_exec_requests
- C. sys.dm_exec_requests
- D. sys.dm_exec_connections

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 20

You have a Fabric tenant that contains a Microsoft Power BI report.

You are exploring a new semantic model.

You need to display the following column statistics:

- Count
- Average
- Null count
- Distinct count
- Standard deviation

Which Power Query function should you run?

- A. Table.view
- B. Table.schema
- C. Table.Profile
- D. Table.FuzzyGroup

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Table.Profile function provides an overview of the data in a table, including basic statistics like count, average, null count, distinct count, and standard deviation for numerical columns.
