CompTIA Data+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q109-Q114):

NEW QUESTION # 109

Which of the following data manipulation techniques is an example of a logical function?

- A. BOOLEAN
- B. WHERE
- C. AGGREGATE
- D. IF

Answer: D

Explanation:

This is because an IF function is a type of logical function that returns a value based on a condition or a set of conditions. An IF function can be used to manipulate data by applying different actions or calculations depending on whether the condition is true or false. For example, an IF function in Excel that can achieve this is:

=IF (condition, value_if_true, value_if_false)

The other data manipulation techniques are not examples of logical functions. Here is why:

* WHERE is a type of clause that filters data based on a condition or a set of conditions. A WHERE clause can be used to manipulate data by selecting only the rows that satisfy the condition(s). For example, a WHERE clause in SQL that can achieve this is:

□ * AGGREGATE is a type of function that performs a calculation on a group of values, such as sum, average, count, etc. An AGGREGATE function can be used to manipulate data by summarizing or aggregating the values in a column or a table. For example, an AGGREGATE function in SQL that can achieve this is:

□ * BOOLEAN is a type of data type that represents two possible values: true or false. A BOOLEAN data type can be used to manipulate data by storing or returning logical values based on a condition or a set of conditions. For example, a BOOLEAN data type in Python that can achieve this is:

NEW QUESTION # 110

Which of the following will MOST likely be streamed live?

- A. Machine data
- B. Delimited rows
- C. Key-value pairs
- D. Flat files

Answer: A

Explanation:

Machine data is the most likely type of data to be streamed live, as it refers to data generated by machines or devices, such as sensors, web servers, network devices, etc. Machine data is often produced continuously and in large volumes, requiring real-time processing and analysis. Other types of data, such as key-value pairs, delimited rows, and flat files, are more likely to be stored in databases or files and processed in batches.

NEW QUESTION # 111

An analyst is designing a dashboard to determine which site has the highest percentage of new customers. The analyst must choose an appropriate chart to include in the dashboard. The following data is available:

□ Which of the following types of charts should be considered to best display the data?

- A. Include a scatter chart using the site and the percent of new customers data.
- B. Include a pie chart using the site and percentage of new customers data.
- C. Include a bar chart using the site and the percentage of new customers data.
- D. Include a line chart using the site and the percentage of new customers data.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The best type of chart to display the data is A. Include a bar chart using the site and the percentage of new customers data.

A bar chart is a good choice for comparing categorical data with numerical data, such as the site and the percentage of new customers. A bar chart can show the relative differences between the sites and highlight the site with the highest percentage of new customers. A bar chart can also be easily labeled and formatted to make the data clear and understandable.

A line chart is not suitable for this data, because it is used to show trends or changes over time, which is not relevant for the site and the percentage of new customers data. A line chart would also be confusing and misleading, as it would imply a connection or correlation between the sites that does not exist.

A pie chart is also not a good choice for this data, because it is used to show the proportion of a whole, not the comparison of different categories. A pie chart would also be difficult to read and interpret, as it would require labels or legends to identify the sites and their percentages. A pie chart would also not be able to show the exact values of the percentages, only their relative sizes.

A scatter chart is another inappropriate option for this data, because it is used to show the relationship or correlation between two numerical variables, not between a categorical and a numerical variable. A scatter chart would also be cluttered and unclear, as it would plot each site as a point on a coordinate plane, without any labels or axes. A scatter chart would also not be able to show the differences or rankings between the sites and their percentages.

NEW QUESTION # 112

What category of data stewardship work is focused on ensuring that the organization respects the wishes of data subjects?

- A. Data quality.
- B. Data privacy.
- C. Data security.
- D. Regulatory compliance.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

Data privacy defines who has access to data, while data protection provides tools and policies to actually restrict access to the data. Compliance regulations help ensure that user's privacy requests are carried out by companies, and companies are responsible to take measures to protect private user data.

Why is data privacy important?

When data that should be kept private gets in the wrong hands, bad things can happen. A data breach at a government agency can, for example, put top secret information in the hands of an enemy state. A breach at a corporation can put proprietary data in the hands of a competitor.

NEW QUESTION # 113

Which of the following terms best describes a situation in which a rating scale does not conform to previously agreed-upon requirements?

- A. Specification mismatch
- B. Redundancy
- C. Data corruption
- D. Incorrect sampling

Answer: A

Explanation:

In a well-governed data environment, rating scales (for surveys, scoring, etc.) should follow predefined specifications (e.g., a scale from 1 to 5, where 1 = Poor and 5 = Excellent). When the actual data collected or configured rating scale:

* Does not match the agreed design

* Uses a different range, labels, or coding scheme than specified this is a specification mismatch - the implementation diverges from the documented requirements.

Why other options are incorrect:

* Incorrect sampling (B): Refers to flaws in how respondents or observations are selected (sample bias), not in the structure of the rating scale itself.

* Data corruption (C): Refers to data being altered, damaged, or unreadable, usually due to technical issues, not simply non-conformance to a design spec.

* Redundancy (D): Refers to duplicate or unnecessary repeating data/attributes, not the misalignment between a rating scale and its specification.

Therefore, when a rating scale fails to conform to its agreed requirements, the correct term is Specification mismatch (A).

CompTIA Data+ Reference (concept alignment):

* DA0-001 Exam Objectives - Domain: Data Governance, Quality, and Controls (conformance to definitions/specifications).

* CompTIA Data+ Official Study Guide - discussions of data requirements, specifications, and conformance as aspects of data quality.
