NEW QUESTION # 143

Scenario: A Citrix Administrator is performing a disaster recovery test and decided to fail over the Citrix ADC high availability (HA) pair appliances. The administrator noticed that the failover is NOT working as expected in item text, and the Secondary Citrix ADC is NOT taking over as Primary. The administrator suspects that networking issues may be causing the failure.

What could be the cause of this issue with the Citrix ADCs?

- A. HA monitoring is enabled on a disabled interface of the Primary Node.
- B. The Independent network configuration (INC) mode is enabled on the Primary Node.
- C. HA monitoring is enabled on an interface of the Secondary Node that shows as ENABLED, DOWN.
- D. HA heartbeats are only seen on some enabled interfaces of the Secondary Node.

Answer: A

Explanation:

HA monitoring should be enabled only on interfaces that are UP on both nodes. If HA monitoring is enabled on a disabled interface of the primary node, the secondary node will not be able to receive heartbeats from the primary node and will not initiate a failover.

The contents of the folders are stored in the redirected location and not included within the user profile, which therefore reduces in size. This can improve the logon times for users with large Documents folders1
