Microsoft GitHub Foundations Sample Questions (Q113-Q118):

NEW QUESTION # 113

Which of the following best describes GitHub Pages?

- A. Handles pagination for API requests
- B. Webpages hosted and published through GitHub repositories
- C. Hosts long-form documentation about your project
- D. Curated guides around how to use GitHub products

Answer: B

Explanation:

GitHub Pages is a feature provided by GitHub that allows you to create webpages hosted and published through GitHub repositories. It is commonly used for hosting project documentation, personal websites, or blogs directly from a GitHub repository. It integrates seamlessly with the repository, making it easy to deploy and manage website content.

NEW QUESTION # 114

Which of the following are counted in the contribution graph on a user's profile? (Each answer presents a complete solution. Choose two.)

- A. public repositories
- B. commits made
- C. issues closed
- D. followers
- E. pull requests created

Answer: B,E

NEW QUESTION # 115

You are working on a collaborative software project and want to ensure that your code is automatically built and tested every time a contributor opens a pull request. A teammate suggests using GitHub Actions for this purpose. Which of the following best describes the purpose of GitHub Actions?

- A. A built-in GitHub feature for managing repository access, contributors, and permissions
- B. A documentation system within GitHub where teams can write internal wikis and tutorials
- C. A CI/CD platform within GitHub that lets you automate workflows for building, testing, and deploying code
- D. A tool used to write issues and assign them automatically to contributors using labels

Answer: C

Explanation:

GitHub Actions is a CI/CD platform within GitHub that lets you automate workflows for building, testing, and deploying code. It enables teams to set up automated processes that run whenever certain events occur, such as opening a pull request. This ensures that code changes are tested and built consistently before merging, improving reliability and streamlining collaboration.

Option C is CORRECT because GitHub Actions is a CI/CD automation platform built into GitHub that lets you create workflows to build, test, and deploy your code automatically based on repository events such as pushes or pull requests.

NEW QUESTION # 116

What template types are available when creating an issue template? (Each correct answer presents part of the solution. Choose three.)

- A. Custom template
Bug report
- B. Standard template
- C. Security notification
- D. Feature request

Answer: A,B,D

NEW QUESTION # 117

Which of the following are advantages of saved replies?

(Each correct answer presents part of the solution. Choose two.)

- A. Saved replies allow you to create a reusable response to issues and pull requests.
- B. Saved replies are allocated at the enterprise level for all users.
- C. Saved replies will send auto notifications when a user is tagged to an issue.
- D. Saved replies are tied to a GitHub user's personal account.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Saved replies in GitHub are a feature that allows users to create and save templates of commonly used responses for issues and pull requests. This feature can significantly enhance productivity and ensure consistent communication.

Saved Replies Are Tied to a User's Personal Account:

Option A is correct because saved replies are specific to a user's GitHub account, meaning they are accessible to the user across all repositories they have access to.

Saved Replies Allow Reusable Responses:

Option C is correct because the primary purpose of saved replies is to allow users to create reusable responses for issues and pull requests, saving time and ensuring consistency.

Incorrect Options:

Option B is incorrect because saved replies are not allocated at the enterprise level; they are specific to individual user accounts.

Option D is incorrect because saved replies do not send auto notifications; they are manually inserted by the user when responding to issues or pull requests.
