ISQI ISTQB Foundation Level - Acceptance Testing Sample Questions (Q22-Q27):

NEW QUESTION # 22

Assume you would like to create a model describing a loan request process in a bank.

The loan request process starts when the customer submits a loan application. The bank then reviews the application. Regardless of whether the loan request is approved or not, a letter is sent to inform the customer of the decision. If the request is approved, the loan contract is created.

You have drawn the following business process model using BPMN 2.0.

Which one of the following sentences is true with respect to this process model?

- A. Verifying employment is not done when the loan status is rejected.
- B. Performing title search and requesting credit report are sequential tasks.
- C. Creating the loan contract is defined as a sub-process.

- D. A review credit report is optional when reviewing the loan application.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive Detailed Explanation (Approx. 200-220 words):

In the first BPMN diagram (Loan Request Process), the process starts with the receipt of a loan application.

Then, parallel gateways (indicated by the "+" symbols) are used to trigger three separate evaluations:

verifying employment, requesting and reviewing a credit record, and performing and reviewing a title search.

These are executed concurrently, not sequentially.

After all checks are completed, the loan application is reviewed. A decision gateway (diamond with an "X") checks whether the loan is approved. Depending on the decision:

If approved: a loan approval letter is sent, and a sub-process is triggered (represented by the rectangle with a "+" symbol inside), which is the creation of the loan contract. This is what identifies it as a BPMN "sub- process." If rejected: a rejection letter is sent.

In both cases, the process ends after customer notification.

Evaluation of answer options:

A: Incorrect - the verification steps occur before the loan status is determined.

B: Correct - the "Create the loan contract" activity has a "+" symbol, indicating a sub-process.

C: Incorrect - the parallel gateway means these tasks are executed concurrently, not sequentially.

D: Incorrect - all review activities are mandatory prior to application review.

Therefore, B is the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 23

Which one of the following scenarios characterizes UX task analysis BEST?

- A. Inspirations from similar sectors are sought to identify successful solutions.
- B. External conditions are considered as input for subsequent design steps.
- C. Use cases are analyzed and represented through business process models.
- D. Users are qualified depending on their physical and intellectual characteristics.

Answer: B

Explanation:

UX task analysis focuses on understanding how users perform their tasks in real-world contexts. It captures not only the sequence of actions but also the surrounding environment - including physical conditions (light, noise), devices used, interruptions, and constraints.

These external or environmental conditions become vital inputs to UX design decisions, helping teams adapt interfaces and workflows to user realities.

Option C is correct because it emphasizes this key aspect of UX task analysis: capturing external conditions that influence usability and system interaction.

Other options:

A focuses on user profiling, not task analysis.

B refers to business process modeling, which is more strategic and less user-context specific.

D refers to benchmarking or inspiration analysis - useful for design ideation but not task analysis.

C). External conditions are considered as input for subsequent design steps.
