□
Explanation:

Box 1: DLP1 only

Document fingerprinting in Microsoft Purview creates sensitive information types (SITs) usable only in Data Loss Prevention (DLP) policies across Exchange, SharePoint, OneDrive, Teams, and Devices, as well as Microsoft Information Protection (MIP) auto-labeling in Exchange, SharePoint, and OneDrive.

Box 2: DLP1, Retention1, and Sensitivity1

Regex-based custom SITs support broader Purview solutions including DLP policies, retention policies, and sensitivity label auto-apply rules, enabling pattern matching for sensitive data detection across compliance workloads.

You need to provide users with the ability to manually classify files that contain product information that are stored in SharePoint Online sites. The solution must meet the following requirements:

- The users must be able to apply a classification of Product1 to the files.
- Any authenticated user must be able to open files classified as Product1.
- Files classified as Product1 must be encrypted.

Answer:

Explanation:

Restrict access to content by using sensitivity labels to apply encryption When you create a sensitivity label, you can restrict access to content that the label will be applied to. For example, with the encryption settings for a sensitivity label, you can protect content so that:

- * Only users within your organization can open a confidential document or email.
- * Etc.

How to configure a label for encryption

Step 1: From the Microsoft Purview compliance portal, select Solutions > Information protection > Labels Step 2: Locate and select label Product1.

Step 3: On the Define the scope for this label page, the options selected determine the label's scope for the settings that you can configure and where they'll be visible when they're published:

Step 4: Select Items, and Files. Deselect the other options.

Step 5: Then, on the Choose protection settings for the types of items you selected page, make sure you select Control access.

NEW QUESTION # 214

HOTSPOT

You need to meet the technical requirements for the confidential documents.

What should you create first, and what should you use for the detection method? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

A screenshot of a computer AI-generated content may be incorrect.

To detect and protect confidential documents, we need a custom rule to identify project codes that start with 999 (since they are classified as confidential).

Box 1: A Sensitive Info Type (SIT) allows Microsoft Purview DLP policies to recognize structured data (e.g., project codes). DLP policies require a sensitive info type to detect content based on patterns, keywords, or dictionary terms. A sensitivity label alone does not define detection logic-it is used for classification and protection after content is identified.

Box 2: Since project codes follow a structured 10-digit pattern, we should use a Regular Expression (Regex) to match project codes that start with 999.

Example Regex pattern:

999\d{7}

This pattern detects a 10-digit number starting with "999".
