ISM Supply Management Integration Sample Questions (Q21-Q26):

NEW QUESTION # 21

The sourcing manager for a regional retail bakery chain reviews order quantities and stocking for perishable condiments on a quarterly basis. Which of the following factors should be the MOST critical consideration in this analysis?

- A. Setting reasonable delivery performance metrics for suppliers
- B. Balancing customer service expectations with risk of stockouts
- C. Understanding the tradeoff between freight costs and inventory levels
- D. Maintaining profitability for low margin items

Answer: B

Explanation:

For perishable goods, the balance between customer service and stockouts is crucial. Excess inventory leads to waste, while stockouts can harm customer satisfaction. The sourcing manager must carefully analyze demand patterns, inventory turnover, and customer expectations to optimize stocking levels. This consideration is supported by logistics and inventory management best practices, focusing on perishables and consumer satisfaction metrics.

NEW QUESTION # 22

Which of the following requires investment recovery action?

- A. Slow-moving materials
- B. Raw materials
- C. Work-in-process
- D. Finished goods

Answer: A

Explanation:

Investment recovery focuses on recouping value from obsolete or excess inventory. Slow-moving materials often require such actions to minimize losses and free up resources. This practice is part of effective inventory management and resource optimization strategies.

NEW QUESTION # 23

A supply manager learns that parts used in manufacturing are arriving scratched and must be polished before use, thereby hampering production. Sending the parts back to the supplier is not an option, as they are needed to meet increased demand. Which of the following will be MOST helpful in resolving this problem?

- A. Process control
- B. Supplier certification
- C. Acceptance/rejection history
- D. Corrective action plan

Answer: D

Explanation:

Implementing a Corrective Action Plan (Option D) will be most helpful in resolving the issue of scratched parts. This plan involves identifying the root cause of the problem, implementing changes to prevent recurrence, and monitoring the effectiveness of these changes. A structured approach to corrective action can address quality issues efficiently and prevent future disruptions. Reference: Quality management systems and corrective action planning.

NEW QUESTION # 24

Which of the following is MOST likely to be an advantage of a standardization program?

- A. Creation of new supplier relationships
- B. Consistent quality
- C. Improved supplier flexibility
- D. Reliance on fewer suppliers

Answer: B

Explanation:

Standardization ensures that products meet uniform quality standards, reducing variability and enhancing customer satisfaction. This advantage is vital in maintaining brand reputation and streamlining production processes.

NEW QUESTION # 25

BCD Manufacturing's products have very high velocity. Accordingly, the firm is redesigning its warehouse to accommodate additional implement a system that will allow its products to be stored in flexible locations, due to the high demand of different SKUs. This strategy should also allow the organization to improve warehouse efficiency. In this situation, which of the following types of storage strategies should BCD employ?

- A. Fixed item locations
- B. Point-of-use locations
- C. Overflow locations
- D. Floating locations

Answer: D

Explanation:

Floating locations should be employed by BCD Manufacturing. This strategy allows for products to be stored flexibly, optimizing space utilization and improving efficiency in high-demand environments. Floating locations adapt to the varying velocity of different SKUs, enhancing warehouse operations. Reference: Warehouse management and flexible storage strategies.
