Salesforce Process Automation Accredited Professional Sample Questions (Q125-Q130):

NEW QUESTION # 125

The Administrator is creating a login flow for a new application which will be deployed on Salesforce. The create an automation logic to help validate the credentials and access. What is the right design for this?

- A. Leverage Screen Flow for displaying the input fields and custom apex triggers for the post login and process.
- B. Leverage Process Builder with Workflow rules for displaying the input fields and for handling the post login and process.
- C. Leverage Screen Flow for displaying the input fields and for handling the post login and process.
- D. Leverage Screen Flow for displaying the input fields and autolaunched flow for handling the post login and process

Answer: D

Explanation:

For creating a login flow, the best approach is to use a Screen Flow to display input fields for credentials and then use an Autolaunched Flow to handle the logic after login, such as validating credentials and determining access. This design separates the user interface from the backend logic, allowing for a more modular and maintainable setup. Reference: Salesforce Help - Screen Flows
