NEW QUESTION # 365

Which of the following should play a leading role in overseeing the ethical atmosphere of an organization?

- A. Internal audit activity.
- B. Senior management.
- C. Operating management.
- D. Board of directors.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The board of directors plays a leading role in overseeing the ethical atmosphere of an organization. They are responsible for establishing and promoting the organization's values and ethical standards. The board sets the tone at the top and ensures that senior management implements policies and procedures that support ethical behavior throughout the organization. This oversight includes monitoring compliance with ethical standards and addressing any ethical issues that arise.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 367

Which of the following frauds is most likely to occur in the accounts payable function?

- A. Certain costs are capitalized, rather than expensed.
- B. Bad debt expense is intentionally omitted from the financial statements.
- C. A related party receives benefits not appropriate in an arm's-length transaction.
- D. Factitious vendors are entered into the system, possibly resulting in improper disbursements.

Answer: D

Explanation:

In the accounts payable function, the most likely fraud scenario involves the creation of fictitious vendors.

This fraud can lead to improper disbursements where payments are made to non-existent entities, effectively siphoning money out of the organization. This type of fraud is easier to execute in accounts payable compared to other functions because it can involve relatively straightforward manipulations of vendor master files and payment processes. Such schemes can result in significant financial losses and are a common concern for internal auditors reviewing accounts payable controls. References:
