- A. Create an after insert and update trigger on the account, contact and lead, and send an error if a duplicate is found using a custom matching criteria.
- B. Create a duplicate rule for account, lead, and contact, use standard matching rules for these objects, and set the action to report and alert for both creates and edits.
- C. Create a duplicate rule for account, lead, and contact, use standard matching rules for these objects, and set the action to block for both creates and edits.
- D. Create a before insert and update trigger on account, contact, and lead, and send an error if a duplicate is found using a custom matching criteria.

Answer: B

report and alert for both creates and edits can help UC fix the issue immediately by prompting users about a record that possibly exists in Salesforce. This can also generate a report regarding duplicate records that can be used for further analysis and resolution

NEW QUESTION # 112

Universal Containers (UC) wants to ensure their data on 100,000 Accounts pertaining mostly to US-based companies is enriched and cleansed on an ongoing basis. UC is looking for a solution that allows easy monitoring of key data quality metrics. What should be the recommended solution to meet this requirement?

- A. Use a declarative approach by installing and configuring Data.com Clean to monitor Account data quality.
- B. Use declarative approach by installing and configuring Data.com Prospector to monitor Account data quality.
- C. Implement an Apex Trigger on Account that queries a third-party data quality API to monitor Account data quality.
- D. Implement Batch Apex that calls out a third-party data quality API in order to monitor Account data quality.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Using a declarative approach by installing and configuring Data.com Clean to monitor Account data quality can help UC meet their requirement. Data.com Clean can enrich and cleanse data on an ongoing basis by comparing Salesforce records with Data.com records and providing suggestions for updates. Data.com Clean can also provide dashboards and reports to monitor key data quality metrics such as match rate, field fill rate, and record completeness

NEW QUESTION # 113

Universal Containers (UC) is a major supplier of office supplies. Some products are produced by UC and some by other manufacturers. Recently, a number of customers have complained that product descriptions on the invoices do not match the descriptions in the online catalog and on some of the order confirmations (e.g., "ballpoint pen" in the catalog and "pen" on the invoice, and item color labels are inconsistent: "what vs. "White" or "blk" vs. "Black"). All product data is consolidated in the company data warehouse and pushed to Salesforce to generate quotes and invoices. The online catalog and webshop is a Salesforce Customer Community solution. What is a correct technique UC should use to solve the data inconsistency?

- A. Change integration to let product master systems update product data directly in Salesforce via the Salesforce API.
- B. Add custom fields to the Product standard object in Salesforce to store data from the different source systems.
- C. Define a data taxonomy for product data and apply the taxonomy to the product data in the data warehouse.
- D. Build Apex Triggers in Salesforce that ensure products have the correct names and labels after data is loaded into salesforce.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A correct technique UC should use to solve the data inconsistency is to define a data taxonomy for product data and apply the taxonomy to the product data in the data warehouse. A data taxonomy is a hierarchical classification of data entities and attributes that defines their meaning, format, and relationships. A data taxonomy can help ensure consistency, accuracy, and completeness of product data across different systems and channels

NEW QUESTION # 114

What makes Skinny tables fast? Choose three answer

- A. They support up to a max of 100 of columns
- B. They can contain fields from other objects
- C. They do not include soft-deleted records
- D. Their tables are kept in sync with their source tables when the source tables are modified
- E. They avoid resource intensive joins

Answer: C,D,E

Explanation:

Skinny tables are custom tables that contain frequently used fields from a standard or custom object. They are used to improve performance by reducing the number of database joins required for queries. Skinny tables have the following characteristics: They do not include soft-deleted records, which means they only contain active records and save space.

They avoid resource intensive joins by storing data from multiple objects in one table, which reduces the query time and complexity. Their tables are kept in sync with their source tables when the source tables are modified, which ensures data consistency and accuracy.

NEW QUESTION # 115

Cloud Kicks is launching a Partner Community, which will allow users to register shipment requests that are then processed by Cloud Kicks employees. Shipment requests contain header information, and then a list of no more than 5 items being shipped. First, Cloud Kicks will introduce its community to 6,000 customers in North America, and then to 24,000 customers worldwide within the next two years. Cloud Kicks expects 12 shipment requests per week per customer, on average, and wants customers to be able to view up to three years of shipment requests and use Salesforce reports. What is the recommended solution for the Cloud Kicks Data Architect to address the requirements?

- A. Create a custom object to track shipment requests and a child custom object to track shipment items. Implement an archiving process that moves data off-platform after three years.
- B. Create a custom object to track shipment requests with five lookup custom fields for each item being shipped. Implement an archiving process that moves data off-platform after three years.
- C. Create an external custom object to track shipment requests and a child external object to track shipment items. External objects are stored off-platform in Heroku's Postgres database.
- D. Create an external custom object to track shipment requests with five lookup custom fields for each item being shipped. External objects are stored off-platform in Heroku's Postgres database.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The recommended solution for the Cloud Kicks Data Architect to address the requirements is to create a custom object to track shipment requests and a child custom object to track shipment items. Implement an archiving process that moves data off-platform after three years. This solution would allow Cloud Kicks to store and manage their shipment data on Salesforce, and use Salesforce reports to analyze it. However, since Cloud Kicks expects a large volume of data over time, they should implement an archiving process that moves data off-platform after three years to avoid hitting the Org data storage limit and maintain optimal performance. External objects are not a good option for this scenario, because they are stored off-platform in an external system, such as Heroku's Postgres database, and they have limited functionality and performance compared to custom objects
