Juniper Data Center, Specialist (JNCIS-DC) Sample Questions (Q35-Q40):

NEW QUESTION # 35

The 10.100.0.0/16 route is being advertised into your BGP IP fabric. ECMP load balancing has been properly enabled on all devices.

In this scenario, how many routes will the leaf device in AS 65000 receive for the 10.100.0.0/16 prefix?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: B

Explanation:

The leaf device in AS 65000 will receive three routes for the 10.100.0.0/16 prefix, one from each spine device in AS 65001, AS 65002, and AS 65003. Since ECMP load balancing is enabled, the leaf device will install all three routes in its routing table and distribute the traffic among them.

NEW QUESTION # 36

In the Apstra design phase, what is the role of DC Reference Design?

- A. It determines the placement of security cameras in the data center
- B. It refers to the design of data center furniture layout
- C. It provides a blueprint for the overall data center architecture and configuration
- D. It specifies the color scheme for network cables

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 37

Juniper Apstra has indicated an anomaly with respect to cabling. What are two ways to remediate the issue? (Choose two.)

- A. Have Apstra autoremediate the cabling map using LLDP.
- B. Redeploy the errant device.
- C. Set the invalid ports to a disabled state.
- D. Manually edit the cabling map.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

A cabling anomaly is an issue that occurs when the physical connections between the devices in the data center fabric do not match the expected connections based on the Apstra Reference Design.

A cabling anomaly can cause problems such as incorrect routing, suboptimal traffic flow, or device isolation.

To remediate the issue, you can use one or both of the following methods:

Manually edit the cabling map. This allows you to override the Apstra-generated cabling and specify the correct connections between the devices.

You can use the Apstra UI or the Apstra CLI to edit the cabling map and apply the changes to the fabric.

Have Apstra autoremediate the cabling map using LLDP. This allows Apstra to collect LLDP data from the devices and use it to update the cabling map automatically.

LLDP is a protocol that allows devices to exchange information about their identity, capabilities, and neighbors. Apstra can use the LLDP data to detect and correct any cabling errors in the fabric.

NEW QUESTION # 38

What are two formats that the cabling map can be exported as? (Choose two.)

- A. HTML
- B. XML
- C. JSON
- D. CSV

Answer: C,D

NEW QUESTION # 39

What are two system-defined user roles that are available in Juniper Apstra? (Choose two.)

- A. authorized
- B. viewer
- C. user
- D. root

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Juniper Apstra provides four system-defined user roles that are available in the Apstra GUI environment. They are: administrator, device_ztp, viewer, and user. Based on the web search results, we can infer the following statements:

viewer: This role includes permissions to only view various elements in the Apstra system, such as blueprints, devices, design, resources, external systems, platform, and others. Users with this role cannot create, edit, or delete any element.

user: This role includes permissions to view and edit various elements in the Apstra system, such as blueprints, devices, design, resources, external systems, platform, and others. Users with this role cannot create or delete any element.

authorized: This is not a system-defined user role in Juniper Apstra. It is a term used to describe users who have been authenticated by an external system, such as LDAP, Active Directory, TACACS+, or RADIUS.

root: This is not a system-defined user role in Juniper Apstra. It is a term used to describe the superuser account on a Linux system, which has full access to all commands and files. Creating a user in the Apstra GUI does not provide that user access to the Apstra platform via SSH. To access the Apstra platform via SSH, you must create a local Linux system user.
