UiPath Automation Business Analyst Associate Exam (2023.10) Sample Questions (Q35-Q40):

NEW QUESTION # 35

Which three roles are typically involved in the Process Analysis stage?

- A. Client SME, Project Manager, UiPath Sales Team
- B. Business Analyst, Solution Architect, Project Manager
- C. Project Manager, Automation Developer, Infrastructure Engineer
- D. Automation Developer, Client Team, Solution Architect

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Process Analysis stage involves three primary roles from the Implementation Team:

- * Business Analyst
- * Solution Architect
- * Project Manager

The Business Analyst focuses on capturing the As-Is process and identifying business rules. The Solution Architect evaluates the process for technical feasibility and prepares for future automation design. The Project Manager ensures the process is analyzed on schedule, facilitates stakeholder coordination, and manages dependencies.

This trio works collaboratively with the Client Team to create the Process Definition Document (PDD), which defines the automation scope and lays the foundation for all subsequent stages.

NEW QUESTION # 36

Which stage involves analyzing the As-Is process and preparing documentation like the PDD?

- A. Project Closure
- B. Process Analysis
- C. Development and Testing
- D. Solution Design

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Process Analysis stage involves thoroughly analyzing the As-Is process and preparing the Process Definition Document (PDD).

This stage is led by the Business Analyst and Solution Architect, often with input from process Subject Matter Experts (SMEs) from the Client Team.

Key activities include:

- * Shadowing process performers
- * Mapping step-by-step workflows
- * Identifying exceptions and business rules
- * Documenting input/output data
- * Noting system interactions

The PDD created in this stage becomes the foundation for the Solution Design and subsequent development phases. Accurate and complete documentation ensures that the automation solution will meet business needs and be technically sound.

NEW QUESTION # 37

In which stage is the Future-State (To-Be) process designed?

- A. Kickoff
- B. Development and Testing
- C. Business Case and Technical Validation
- D. Solution Design

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Future-State (To-Be) process is designed during the Solution Design stage. This is where the Solution Architect, in collaboration with developers and other stakeholders, translates the current (As-Is) process into an optimized automated workflow.

Key tasks in this stage include:

- * Designing the To-Be process flow
- * Identifying reusable modules
- * Defining exception handling and data logic
- * Finalizing the infrastructure and integration approach

The Solution Design Document (SDD) produced in this stage serves as the detailed roadmap for development. The design ensures that automation is technically sound, aligned with business goals, and ready for efficient development and deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 38

In UiPath Automation Hub, how is the "Ease of Implementation" score calculated?

- A. By the number of process steps
- B. By assessing the duration of the process cycle
- C. By assessing the complexity and resource requirements of implementing the automation
- D. By looking at systems involved in the process and their compatibility with RPA

Answer: C

Explanation:

In UiPath Automation Hub, the Ease of Implementation score is calculated by assessing the complexity and resource requirements needed to automate a process. This scoring evaluates how difficult or simple it will be for the Implementation Team to build and deploy automation for the selected process.

Factors that influence the score typically include the number of applications involved, the applications' automation-friendliness, exception variability, data structures, system reliability, dependencies, and required human interactions. It may also consider technical challenges such as OCR requirements, API availability, multi-system integrations, or unusual business rules.

A lower complexity with fewer resource dependencies results in a higher Ease of Implementation score, indicating the process is more suitable for rapid automation. Conversely, complex processes with numerous exceptions, unstructured data, or unstable systems may result in a lower score.

This scoring helps organizations prioritize automation opportunities by balancing potential value against implementation effort. It ensures that teams select automation candidates that deliver value quickly while maintaining reasonable development effort and resource allocation.

NEW QUESTION # 39

Which automation implementation stage includes both development and unit testing?

- A. Development and Testing
- B. Process Analysis
- C. User Acceptance Testing (UAT)
- D. Business Case and Technical Validation

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Development and Testing stage includes both automation development and unit testing. In this phase, Automation Developers build the automation workflows in UiPath Studio based on the technical specifications from the Solution Design Document (SDD).

Once the workflows are built, they undergo unit testing, where developers validate individual components or modules to ensure they work as expected. This ensures the logic, data flow, exception handling, and integration with external systems are correctly implemented.

This stage may also include peer reviews and coordination with the Solution Architect for code validation and best practices adherence. Successful completion of this stage ensures the automation is ready for User Acceptance Testing (UAT) and further validation by the Client Team.
