NEW QUESTION # 58

___ pressure is suggested for indoor use with a handheld sprayer.

- A. High
- B. Low
- C. A power sprayer and high

Answer: B

Explanation:

For indoor applications with a handheld sprayer, low pressure is recommended to minimize overspray and reduce the risk of pesticide drift onto non-target areas, such as furniture or food surfaces. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 5: Pesticide Application) advises using low-pressure settings (typically under 50 psi) for indoor crack-and-crevice or spot treatments. Option A (high pressure) and Option B (power sprayer and high) are more suited for outdoor or large-scale applications, not indoor household pest control.

NEW QUESTION # 59

Notification requirements for multi-family residents require:

- A. Decal notification in all entryways to the building
- B. A decal notice in each unit prior to the application
- C. The post-application decal notice in each unit

Answer: A

Explanation:

For multi-family residences, NJDEP regulations (N.J.A.C. 7:30-9.13) require decal notification in all entryways to the building to inform residents of pesticide applications. This ensures visibility for all tenants without requiring individual unit notices. Option A (decal in each unit prior) is not required, though advance notice to tenants is. Option C (post-application decal in each unit) is impractical and not mandated; post-application notices are typically posted in common areas.

Which rodent requires a daily water source?

- A. Deer mouse
- B. Norway rat
- C. House mouse

Answer: B

Norway rats require a daily water source to survive, often living near water or in areas with high moisture. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 8: Rodents) notes this as a key characteristic, making water sources a target for control. Option B (house mouse) and Option C (deer mouse) can survive on moisture from food and do not require a daily water source.

The most frequently reported vector-borne illness is:

- A. Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever
- B. Lyme Disease
- C. Tick Paralysis

Answer: B

Explanation:

Lyme Disease is the most frequently reported vector-borne illness in the U.S., including New Jersey, transmitted by the blacklegged tick. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators Option A (Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever) is less common. Option B (Tick Paralysis) is rare and not a disease but a condition caused by tick bites.

NEW QUESTION # 62

The "recipe" used to mix the pesticide includes the:

- A. Percentage of water used
- B. Rate per given area
- C. Total amount of pesticide concentrate and diluent

Answer: C

Explanation:

The "recipe" for mixing a pesticide refers to the specific instructions for preparing the pesticide solution, which includes the total amount of pesticide concentrate (active ingredient) and diluent (e.g., water or another carrier) to achieve the correct concentration for application. This is detailed on the pesticide label and in the General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 5: Pesticide Application). Option B (percentage of water) is incorrect because the label specifies amounts, not percentages. Option C (rate per given area) refers to the application rate, not the mixing recipe.
