NEW QUESTION # 15

How can you define the relationship between business roles and business catalogs?

- A. A business catalog restricts access to one or more business roles.
- B. A business catalog is a collection of one or more business roles.
- C. A business role restricts access to one or more business catalogs.
- D. A business role is a collection of one or more business catalogs.

Answer: D

Explanation:

In SAP S/4HANA Cloud Public Edition, the relationship between business roles and business catalogs is defined as follows: a business role is a collection of one or more business catalogs. This structure ensures that users assigned to a business role have access to the relevant SAP Fiori apps grouped within the associated business catalogs.

* A business role is a collection of one or more business catalogs (Option D): Business roles are designed to group business catalogs, which in turn contain collections of SAP Fiori apps. This hierarchical structure simplifies role-based access management. The SAP Role-Based Access Control Guide confirms this relationship.

* A. A business catalog restricts access to one or more business roles: Business catalogs do not restrict access; instead, they provide access to SAP Fiori apps. Restrictions are managed through business roles.

* B. A business catalog is a collection of one or more business roles: This is incorrect because business catalogs are collections of SAP Fiori apps, not business roles.

* C. A business role restricts access to one or more business catalogs: Business roles grant access to business catalogs rather than restricting access.

* SAP Role-Based Access Control Guide: Explains the relationship between business roles and business catalogs in SAP S/4HANA Cloud Public Edition. <https://help.sap.com>

* SAP Fiori Apps Reference Library: Provides details on how business roles and catalogs are structured and used in the system.
