CompTIA Cloud Essentials+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q321-Q326):

NEW QUESTION # 321

A business analyst is creating a project plan in which a lift-and-shift cloud migration strategy may be required over other more cost-effective available approaches. Which of the following would justify a lift-and-shift migration?

- A. The increased total cost of ownership to maintain multiple instances exceeds any value.
- B. The cost of resources is increased due to the need to load balance additional servers.
- C. The application stack is incompatible with the OS, and there is a lack of vendor support.
- D. There is no realized scope creep from choosing this migration path.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A lift-and-shift migration strategy is often justified when the application is incompatible with the cloud environment, such as the operating system (OS) or underlying infrastructure, and reconfiguring or refactoring the application is not feasible or supported by the vendor. In this case, the business analyst may opt for the lift-and-shift approach to quickly migrate the application to the cloud without having to modify the application itself, especially if the OS is incompatible and vendor support is unavailable for refactoring.

NEW QUESTION # 322

Which of the following helps lower storage requirements and provide abstraction over the OS level?

- A. Virtualization
- B. Blockchain
- C. Microservices
- D. Containerization

Answer: D

Explanation:

Containerization helps lower storage requirements and provides abstraction over the OS level by allowing applications to run in isolated environments (containers) without requiring a full OS for each application. Containers share the host OS's kernel, which reduces overhead and improves efficiency compared to traditional virtual machines. This abstraction enables more efficient use of resources, including storage, and allows for faster, more scalable application deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 323

Which of the following risk results if cloud computing providers limit their Service Level Agreement (SLA) liabilities?

- A. Compliance risk
- B. Privacy risk
- C. Security risk
- D. Legal risk

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 324

The maintenance of hardware, software, licenses, support, and updates when using a PaaS model in the cloud is done by:

- A. the Internet service provider.
- B. the cloud service provider.
- C. the IT department.
- D. the software owner.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the PaaS (Platform as a Service) model, the cloud service provider (CSP) is responsible for maintaining the underlying infrastructure, including hardware, software, licenses, support, and updates. The organization using the PaaS only needs to focus on developing and deploying its applications, while the CSP takes care of the management of the platform, making it easier for developers to concentrate on coding rather than system maintenance.

NEW QUESTION # 325

A Chief Information Officer (CIO) wants to identify two business units to be pilots for a new cloud project. A business analyst who was recently assigned to this project will be selecting a cloud provider. Which of the following should the business analyst do FIRST?

- A. Conduct a feasibility study of the environment.
- B. Gather business and technical requirements for key stakeholders.
- C. Draw a matrix diagram of the capabilities of the cloud providers.
- D. Conduct a benchmark of all major systems.

Answer: B
