ServiceNow Certified Implementation Specialist - Hardware Asset Management Sample Questions (Q109-Q114):

NEW QUESTION # 109
You may adjust a contract when it is in which of the following states? (Choose two.)

- A. Canceled
- B. Extended
- C. Expired
- D. Active
- E. Renewed

Answer: C,D

NEW QUESTION # 110
What are the baseline asset lifecycle automation flows provided by the Hardware Asset Management (HAM) plugin? (Choose three.)

- A. Hardware bulk stock order
- B. Hardware deployment
- C. Hardware retire order
- D. Hardware asset order
- E. Hardware swap order
- F. Hardware disposal

Answer: B,D,F

Explanation:
The Hardware Asset Management (HAM) plugin is a plugin that enables the Hardware Asset Management application, which helps to track and manage the end-to-end lifecycle of hardware assets, physical and consumable1.
The HAM plugin provides the following baseline asset lifecycle automation flows2:
Hardware asset order: This is a flow that automates the process of ordering new hardware assets from a vendor. It creates purchase orders, stock order tasks, and catalog tasks based on the asset requests and the stock rules2.
Hardware deployment: This is a flow that automates the process of delivering and installing hardware assets to the end users. It creates catalog tasks and updates the asset records and the configuration management database (CMDB) based on the stock order tasks and the asset reservations2.
Hardware disposal: This is a flow that automates the process of disposing of retired hardware assets through a vendor. It creates return merchandise authorization (RMA) records and updates the asset records and the CMDB based on the asset retirements and the vendor contracts2.
Therefore, the baseline asset lifecycle automation flows that are also options in the question are A. Hardware asset order, E. Hardware deployment, and F. Hardware disposal.

The other options that are not baseline asset lifecycle automation flows provided by the HAM plugin are:
B) Hardware bulk stock order: This is not a baseline asset lifecycle automation flow, but a manual action that allows the user to create multiple stock order tasks for different hardware models at once3.
C) Hardware swap order: This is not a baseline asset lifecycle automation flow, but a manual action that allows the user to swap a hardware asset with another hardware asset of the same model4.
D) Hardware retire order: This is not a baseline asset lifecycle automation flow, but a manual action that allows the user to retire a hardware asset and update its status and substatus. Reference:
1: Hardware Asset Management
2: Asset Lifecycle Automation Flows
3: Create a Bulk Stock Order
4: Swap a Hardware Asset
5: Retire a Hardware Asset

NEW QUESTION # 111
What are the five valid phases of the Now Create methodology?

- A. Create, recap, execute, deliver, review
- B. Review, prepare, create, validate, recap
- C. Initiate, plan, execute, deliver, close
- D. Initiate, plan, execute, review, close

Answer: C

Explanation:
According to the Now Create ebook, the Now Create methodology consists of five phases: initiate, plan, execute, deliver, and close. Each phase has a specific purpose, outcome, and set of tasks that guide the project team to successful delivery. The other options are not valid phases of the Now Create methodology.

NEW QUESTION # 112
Select the three main components of the data certification process. (Choose three.)

- A. Run the certification
- B. Certify the certification
- C. Create the certification schedule
- D. Assign the certification tasks
- E. Create the certification filter

Answer: B,C,E

NEW QUESTION # 113
An asset is manually created from a purchase order before it has been shipped by the supplier. By default, the state of the asset is set to:

- A. Pending transfer
- B. In use
- C. On order
- D. Awaiting delivery

Answer: C

Explanation:
When an asset is manually created from a purchase order before it has been shipped by the supplier, the default state of the asset is set to On order. This state indicates that the asset has been ordered but not yet received. The asset state will change to Awaiting delivery when the asset is shipped by the supplier, and to In stock when the asset is received by the stockroom. The asset state will change to In use when the asset is deployed to a user or a location, and to Pending transfer when the asset is ready to be transferred to another stockroom or location. The asset state will change to Retired when the asset is disposed of or returned to the supplier. Reference:
Hardware Asset States, which describes the different states and substates of hardware assets and how they are used to track the asset lifecycle.

Hardware Asset Management overview, which describes the functionalities of the Hardware Asset Management application, including the dashboard, model normalization, hardware refresh, lease contract expiration, disposal orders, and RMA requests.

Hardware Asset Lifecycle Automation, which explains how to automate the workflows and tasks for managing the assets throughout their lifecycle stages, from request to retire.
