ASQ Certified Software Quality Engineer Exam Sample Questions (Q229-Q234):

NEW QUESTION # 229

As it relates to testing, the phrase "80% coverage" means 80% of the

- A. predicted errors have been uncovered
- B. software is error-free
- C. statements in the program have been tested
- D. planned test cases have been completed

Answer: C

Explanation:

The phrase "80% coverage" in testing typically refers to the percentage of statements in the program that have been executed at least once during testing. This is known as statement coverage or code coverage. It is a measure of how much of the code has been exercised by the test suite and is used to assess the thoroughness of the testing efforts. It does not necessarily mean that 80% of the software is error-free, that 80% of planned test cases have been completed, or that 80% of predicted errors have been uncovered, although higher coverage often correlates with better defect detection. NEW QUESTION # 230

The Equity Theory states that for rewards to be motivational they must be distributed

- A. based on seniority
- B. as deserved
- C. based on profit
- D. at key milestones

Answer: B

Explanation:

Equity Theory, proposed by John Stacey Adams, posits that employees are motivated when they perceive that their efforts and rewards are fair compared to others. Here 's a detailed explanation:

* Equity Theory Overview : This theory suggests that individuals compare their job inputs (effort, skill, experience) and outputs (salary, recognition) with those of others.

* Perceived Fairness : Employees are motivated when they believe that their rewards are proportional to their contributions compared to others.

* Motivation through Fair Distribution : Fair and deserved rewards reduce feelings of inequity and dissatisfaction, leading to higher motivation and performance.

* Implications in the Workplace : Ensuring rewards are as deserved helps in maintaining morale and reducing turnover.

NEW QUESTION # 231

During what time period is the software configuration management plan implemented?

- A. During the code generation phase of the lifecycle
- B. After the software product is placed into production
- C. From the requirements phase through the testing phase of the software lifecycle
- D. From the requirements phase through the maintenance phase of the software lifecycle

Answer: D

Explanation:

The software configuration management plan (SCMP) is implemented from the requirements phase through the maintenance phase of the software lifecycle. This comprehensive approach ensures that all changes to software artifacts are systematically controlled and tracked throughout the lifecycle, from initial requirements gathering, through development and testing, and into maintenance and updates after deployment. Effective configuration management helps maintain consistency, traceability, and control over software changes, which is crucial for maintaining software quality and compliance.

NEW QUESTION # 232

Which of the following items is an appropriate topic to be discussed in a daily scrum meeting?

- A. A change in the product roadmap which impacts current future releases
- B. The list of all product backlog items that need to be addressed in current sprint
- C. A product backlog item from the current sprint and move it to future sprints
- D. An impediment one of the team member was facing yesterday

Answer: D

Explanation:

The daily scrum meeting (or daily stand-up) is a time-boxed event in agile methodologies designed for the team to synchronize activities and discuss any impediments.

* Three Questions: During the daily scrum, team members typically address three questions: What did I do yesterday? What will I do today? Are there any impediments in my way?

* Focus on Impediments: Discussing impediments is crucial as it allows the team to identify and address obstacles that may hinder progress, facilitating prompt resolution.

* Short-Term Planning: The daily scrum focuses on the immediate tasks and issues, not on long-term planning or changes to the product roadmap.

NEW QUESTION # 233

To increase the likelihood of the success of a software project, the project plan should meet which of the following requirements?

- A. It should be reviewed and updated at each phase of the project.
- B. It should be developed by an independent software developer
- C. It should be completed before the project activities begin.
- D. It should be approved by the steering committee.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Dynamic Planning: A project plan that is reviewed and updated at each phase ensures that it remains relevant and accurate, reflecting any changes in scope, resources, or timelines.

Continuous Improvement: Regular updates allow for continuous improvement and alignment with project goals and stakeholder expectations.

Standards and Guidelines: Project management standards, such as those outlined by the Project Management Institute (PMI), advocate for iterative review and updating of project plans.
