VMware Advanced VMware Cloud Foundation 9.0 Operation Sample Questions (Q113-Q118):

NEW QUESTION # 113

A Solution Architect is designing the integration strategy for a VCF environment that includes a "Stretched Cluster" Management Domain across two sites. The requirement is to ensure continuous monitoring of the Management vCenter even if Site 1 goes dark.

Architecture

Site 1: Primary vCenter Node (Active)

Site 2: vCenter HA Node (Passive)

VCF Operations: Deployed in Site 1 (Standard Cluster)

Issue

If Site 1 fails completely, VCF Operations (in Site 1) will also go down, failing to monitor the failover of vCenter to Site 2.

To enable true continuous monitoring survivability for the vCenter integration during a Site 1 failure, what architectural change is required?

- A. Install a standalone VCF Operations node in Site 2 and use "vSphere Replication" to keep it synced with Site 1.
- B. Configure vCenter HA to automatically vMotion the VCF Operations Analytics nodes to Site 2.
- C. Use the "SDDC Manager Integration" to proxy the vCenter metrics, as SDDC Manager is automatically highly available.
- D. Deploy a VCF Operations Continuous Availability (CA) cluster stretched across Site 1 and Site 2, and configure the vCenter Adapter to run on a Collector Group containing Cloud Proxies from both sites.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 114

A customer wants to use Workload Optimization to save power in their VDI environment during the night. The goal is to migrate VMs to as few hosts as possible so that empty hosts can be powered down by DPM (Distributed Power Management).

Which configuration combination achieves this?

- A. Use the "Reclaim Idle VMs" feature to delete the VDI desktops.
- B. Set Operational Intent to "Consolidate" within VCF Operations, and ensure DPM is enabled and set to "Automated" (or Manual with recommendations) in the underlying vSphere Clusters.
- C. Set Operational Intent to "Balance" and disable DPM.
- D. Set Business Intent to "VDI" and disable DRS.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 115

A Cloud Admin wants to schedule a "Reclaim Resources" job in Automation Central to delete old snapshots. However, the requirement states that this job must ONLY target virtual machines belonging to the "Finance" department, regardless of which cluster they reside in.

What is the most effective configuration step to define this dynamic scope within the job?

- A. Create a Custom Group in VCF Operations with a membership criterion matching "Tag: Department = Finance", and then select this Custom Group as the scope for the Automation Central job.
- B. Manually select the specific Finance VMs from the list during job creation; the list will auto-update later.
- C. Select the "World" object and hope the user permissions filter the list.
- D. Edit the VCF Operations Policy to apply the job to the Finance folder.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 116

A developer is troubleshooting a complex application error. They found one specific log message indicating the crash. Now, they want to see the logs that occurred on the same host immediately before and after that specific event to understand the context.

Which feature provides this "Time-Adjacent" view?

- A. "View Context" (or View Surrounding Events). By clicking the context icon (often looks like a list or document) next to the specific log entry, the system opens a dedicated view showing the sequential stream of logs from that specific source around the timestamp of the event, regardless of keywords.

- B. Use the "Cluster Events" dashboard.
- C. Copy the timestamp and manually search for it.
- D. Right-click the event and select "Filter by Hostname".

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 117

A user complains that they cannot find logs for a specific ESXi host in VCF Operations for Logs. The administrator checks the ESXi host configuration and sees: Syslog.global.logHost = udp://loginsight.corp.local:514 A packet capture on the Log Insight node shows packets arriving from the ESXi host IP on port 514.

Why are the logs still not searchable in the UI?

- A. The Log Insight license has expired.
- B. The ESXi host is in Maintenance Mode.
- C. The indexer service is stopped.
- D. The logs are being dropped because the ESXi host's time is significantly skewed (Time Drift) relative to the Log Insight cluster, putting the timestamps outside the query window.

Answer: D
