Salesforce Platform Developer I (PDI) Sample Questions (Q187-Q192):

NEW QUESTION # 187

If Apex code executes inside the `execute()` method of an Apex class when implementing the Batchable interface, which two statements are true regarding governor limits?

Choose 2 answers

- A. The Apex governor limits will use the asynchronous limit levels.
- B. The Apex governor limits are omitted while calling the constructor of the Apex class.
- C. The Apex governor limits cannot be exceeded due to the asynchronous nature of the transaction.
- D. The Apex governor limits are reset for each iteration of the `execute()` method.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Option A: The Apex governor limits are reset for each iteration of the `execute()` method.

True.

In Batch Apex, each execution of the `execute()` method is a separate transaction.

Governor limits are reset at the start of each transaction.

Batch Apex operates asynchronously.

Asynchronous Apex has different (often higher) governor limits compared to synchronous Apex.

Even though asynchronous Apex has higher limits, governor limits can still be exceeded, leading to exceptions.

Governor limits apply to all Apex code, including constructors.

There are no exceptions for constructors.

Reference:

Batch Apex

Governor Limits

Option C: The Apex governor limits will use the asynchronous limit levels.

True.

Asynchronous Apex Limits

Option B: The Apex governor limits cannot be exceeded due to the asynchronous nature of the transaction.

False.

Governor Limit Exceptions

Option D: The Apex governor limits are omitted while calling the constructor of the Apex class.

False.

Conclusion:

The correct statements are A and C.

NEW QUESTION # 188

How many Accounts will be inserted by the following block of code?

for(Integer i = 0 ; i < 500; i++){
    Account a = new Account (Name='New Account ' + i); insert a;
}

- A. 0

- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: C

Explanation:

* Execution Flow:

* The loop runs 500 times (iranges from 0 to 499).

* In each iteration, a newAccountrecord is created and inserted.

* Governor Limits:

* This code violates the governor limit of 150 DML statements per transaction because eachinsertis executed individually.

* However, the code logically attempts to insert 500 accounts.

* Key Consideration:

* The code demonstrates inefficient handling of DML operations and would fail in a real-world scenario.

- C. A method defined In an Apex Interface cannot have an access modifier.

NEW QUESTION # 191

A developer creates a batch Apex job to update a large number of records, and receives reports of the job timing out and not completing.

What is the first step towards troubleshooting the issue?

- A. Decrease the batch size to reduce the load on the system.
- B. Check the asynchronous job monitoring page to view the job status and logs.
- C. Check the debug logs for the batch job.
- D. Disable the batch job and recreate it with a smaller number of records.

Answer: B

Explanation:

When troubleshooting batch Apex jobs:

* Asynchronous Job Monitoring:

* Navigate toSetup > Apex Jobsto view the status of the batch job.

* Provides information such as success, errors, and total execution time.

* This step is crucial to diagnose whether the issue is with system limits, batch size, or specific records.

* Debug Logs:

* After identifying the issue in the job monitoring page, use debug logs to pinpoint specific errors or bottlenecks.

* B. Check the debug logs for the batch job: Debug logs are a secondary step after checking the job status.

* C. Disable and recreate with fewer records: Premature without investigating the root cause.

* D. Decrease the batch size: Adjusting batch size is a solution but only after identifying the cause of the timeout.
