Other options:

- * Health care: A relatively small portion of the index.
- * Utilities: Have a smaller weight compared to energy.

Answer: C

What is an example of a common feature of robo-advisor services?

- A. A telephone call with an advisor verifies that the computer-generated portfolio is suitable for the client.
- B. Portfolios are built primarily with individual stocks and bonds.
- C. The portfolios are rarely rebalanced
- D. The service is exclusively provided to intermediaries such as advisors and employers

Answer: A

Explanation:

Many robo-advisors offer a hybrid model where an automated portfolio recommendation is supplemented by human oversight. A telephone call with an advisor ensures the portfolio generated by the algorithm aligns with the client's risk tolerance and investment objectives. This step helps meet regulatory suitability requirements.

* A. The service is exclusively provided to intermediaries such as advisors and employers: Robo-advisors are directly available to retail clients and are not exclusive to intermediaries.

- * B. The portfolios are rarely rebalanced: Robo-advisors typically offer frequent or automatic rebalancing to maintain target asset allocations.
- * C. Portfolios are built primarily with individual stocks and bonds: Robo-advisors predominantly use ETFs for diversification and cost-efficiency, not individual securities.

NEW QUESTION # 20

- B. Lenders will increase interest rates for everyone
- C. Lenders will decrease interest rates for everyone
- D. The exchange rate relative to other currencies will increase

Answer: B

Explanation:

When a country's central government is at risk of defaulting on its debt, lenders perceive higher risks and demand higher interest rates as compensation. This results in:

- * An increase in interest rates for borrowing by all entities in the country.
- * Options A and B are incorrect because exchange rates usually decline (currency devalues) when default risk rises.
- * D. Decrease in interest rates is the opposite of what happens in such scenarios.

NEW QUESTION # 21

What best describes the liability of limited partners in a limited partnership?

- A. They are not liable for debts and losses incurred in business operations.
- B. Their liability is limited to their investment
- C. Their liability includes personal assets.
- D. They are liable only to the extent of the daily business activities they participate in.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In a limited partnership, the liability of limited partners is strictly limited to the amount of their investment in the partnership. They do not participate in the day-to-day management or operational decision-making of the partnership. This characteristic ensures that their personal assets are protected beyond their contribution to the partnership.

If limited partners were to engage in the management of the partnership, they could potentially lose their limited liability protection and be treated as general partners, exposing their personal assets to liability.

This concept is foundational in business structures like limited partnerships, allowing investors to contribute capital without risking their personal wealth beyond the agreed investment.
