Adobe Real-Time CDP Business Practitioner Professional Sample Questions (Q118-Q123):

NEW QUESTION # 118

A data engineer has loaded a single order event with a status of "order_placed" into the Real-Time Customer Profile. The event utilizes an Experience Event class-based schema/dataset where the email address is marked as the primary identity.

The event is as follows:

_id: 1234 (unique id of the event)

timestamp: 2023-10-06T12:00:00Z (timestamp the event occurred)

Email: john.smith@somedomain.com (primary identity -- who the event belongs to) status: order_placed (status of the event)

A few hours later the data engineer sends an updated order event into the Real-Time Customer Profile stating the order status is now "order_shipped".

The event is as follows:

_id: 1234

timestamp: 2023-10-06T14:00:00Z

Email: john.smith@somedomain.com

status: order_shipped

When the data engineer looks up the profile, the new event does not appear with the "order_shipped" status on the profile, but it is in the Data Lake.

Why did this happen?

- A. The Real-Time Customer Profile only accepts one event per timestamp per primary identity.
