- B. self-help group.
- C. reformation group.

Counselors are ethically permitted to conduct deception studies when

- A. the research subject matter is controversial or sensitive.
- B. obtaining informed consent would bias the research results.
- C. there are no feasible alternatives and debriefing is provided.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Ethically, counselors and researchers may only use deception in studies when there are no feasible alternatives, the study has significant scientific, educational, or applied value, and participants are debriefed as soon as possible after participation. Deception should never be used simply because the subject is controversial or to avoid informed consent without justification.

NEW QUESTION # 126

According to Erikson, an infant develops intellectual and social skills through exploration of the environment.

How do effective parents help their children develop these intellectual and social skills?

- A. rewarding the child's desirable behaviors
- B. establishing trust through warm responses
- C. clearly communicating identified goals

Answer: B

Explanation:

Erikson's first stage, "trust vs. mistrust," occurs in infancy. Effective parents foster intellectual and social development by establishing trust-responding warmly and consistently to their child's needs. This foundational trust gives infants the confidence to explore their environment and develop new skills.

NEW QUESTION # 127

Which of the following occurs last during the initial counseling process?

- A. assessing client needs
- B. identifying counseling goals
- C. developing an action plan

Answer: C

Explanation:

During the initial counseling process, the sequence typically begins with assessing client needs, followed by identifying counseling goals, and lastly, developing an action plan to address those goals. "Developing an action plan is the final step of the initial counseling stage, occurring after needs assessment and goal setting." Reference: Helwig, A. A. (2020). CPCE Study Guide and Review.

NEW QUESTION # 128

An effective method for a group leader to help group members develop trust among themselves is to

- A. require that group members only give positive feedback to each other.
- B. encourage group members to reveal their feelings of lack of trust to each other.
- C. present personal examples of how trust has been developed in previous groups.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Encouraging group members to reveal their feelings of lack of trust to each other is an effective way for a group leader to promote openness and honesty. This process can foster authentic communication, address concerns directly, and gradually build trust. Artificially requiring only positive feedback does not lead to genuine trust.
