It makes the CompTIA 220-1202 online practice exam a perfect tool for those who do not want to go through complicated software installation on their device.

CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 2 Sample Questions (Q95-Q100):

NEW QUESTION # 95

Which of the following is a protocol that provides AAA for network services?

- A. Kerberos
- B. TKIP
- C. WPA3
- D. RADIUS

Answer: D

Explanation:

RADIUS (Remote Authentication Dial-In User Service) provides centralized Authentication, Authorization, and Accounting (AAA) for users who connect and use a network service.

NEW QUESTION # 96

A technician is attempting to join a workstation to a domain but is receiving an error message stating the domain cannot be found. However, the technician is able to ping the server and access the internet. Given the following information:

IP Address - 192.168.1.210

Subnet Mask - 255.255.255.0

Gateway - 192.168.1.1

DNS1 - 8.8.8.8

DNS2 - 1.1.1.1

Server - 192.168.1.10

Which of the following should the technician do to fix the issue?

- A. Update the default gateway.
- B. Assign a static IP address.
- C. Configure a subnet mask.
- D. Change the DNS settings.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The issue described-"domain cannot be found" despite the ability to ping the server and access the internet- indicates a DNS resolution problem, not a network connectivity issue. The workstation is currently using public DNS servers (8.8.8.8 and 1.1.1.1) which cannot resolve internal domain names, such as the ones used in Active Directory environments. To resolve this, the technician needs to change the DNS settings to point to the internal DNS server, which in most domain setups is the domain controller itself (likely 192.168.1.10 in this case).

Here's the breakdown of the incorrect options:

B). Assign a static IP address: The IP is already assigned and functioning; the device can ping and reach the network and internet.

C). Configure a subnet mask: The subnet mask is appropriate for the network range (Class C /24).

D). Update the default gateway: The gateway is valid and allows internet access; this is not the issue.

CompTIA A+ 220-1102 Core 2 Objective Reference:

Objective 1.8 - Given a scenario, use features and tools of the operating system.

Under this objective, candidates must know how to troubleshoot OS-based network configurations, including proper DNS settings in domain environments.

NEW QUESTION # 97

A technician is preparing to replace the batteries in a rack-mounted UPS system. After ensuring the power is turned off and the batteries are fully discharged, the technician needs to remove the battery modules from the bottom of the rack. Which of the following steps should the technician take?

- A. Place the removed batteries in an antistatic bag.
- B. Ensure the fire suppression system is ready to be activated.
- C. Wear a face mask to filter out any harmful fumes.
- D. Use appropriate lifting techniques and guidelines.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

UPS batteries are heavy and often located at the bottom of racks to maintain balance. Safe removal requires the use of correct lifting techniques to avoid injury. OSHA and workplace safety standards emphasize ergonomic handling when dealing with heavy equipment.

A: Fire suppression readiness is important for fire safety but not specifically relevant to battery removal.

C: Antistatic bags are for electronic components, not heavy battery modules.

D: A face mask is not generally necessary unless there is a chemical leak, which is not indicated here.

NEW QUESTION # 98

A technician is installing a new wired network connection for a workstation in a temporary office space. Because there is no drop-ceiling or cable conduit available, the technician runs a long Cat 6 patch cable across the floor and hides it underneath a rug that sits in a high-traffic hallway. Which of the following is the GREATEST technical concern regarding this installation?

- A. Walking over the cable can create intermittent issues.
- B. Cleaning with a vacuum will create static electricity.
- C. Appropriate cable management removes a hazard.
- D. Labels for the cable routing are not appropriately displayed.

Answer: A

Explanation:

A cable run under a carpet is vulnerable to compression, bending, and repeated physical stress from foot traffic, which can damage the cable jacket, distort the twists, loosen terminations, or partially break conductors—often showing up as intermittent connectivity. Quentin Docter notes that on a wired network,

"other wired issues can include bad or poorly connected cables," and you should check cabling and connections as a cause of intermittent problems. Putting a cable where people walk on it increases the chance it becomes "bad" over time or develops poor connections, producing the intermittent symptoms described in the answer option.

From a safety/professional practice perspective, Mike Meyers emphasizes that unmanaged cables are "dangerous tripping hazards" and that in business environments cables should be "carefully tucked away... or placed under cable runners," using "proper cable management." While that supports hazard reduction, the best reason in this question's choices focuses on network reliability: repeated walking over the cable can cause intermittent issues. So the correct answer is D.

NEW QUESTION # 99

A technician is deploying mobile devices and needs to prevent access to sensitive data if the devices are lost. Which of the following is the best way to prevent unauthorized access if the user is unaware that the phone is lost?

- A. Remote wipe
- B. Encryption
- C. Geofencing
- D. Facial recognition

Answer: A

Explanation:

Remote wipe is the best option to prevent unauthorized access to data when a mobile device is lost or stolen—especially if the user is unaware of the loss. It allows administrators or mobile device management (MDM) systems to remotely erase all data on the device, rendering it unusable for unauthorized users.

A). Encryption protects the data, but if the device remains powered and logged in, it may still be accessible.

C). Geofencing can restrict features based on location but does not erase data.

D). Facial recognition helps secure access but can be bypassed in some cases or fail in practical situations.
