- A. Enable Multicloud Snapshot Technology.
- B. Add a new NC2 Recovery Location.
- C. Create a runbook to clone recovery points to an S3 Bucket.
- D. Connect to DaaS domain availability zone type.

NEW QUESTION # 100

An administrator manages a Nutanix cluster with software data-at-rest encryption enabled using an external KMS. Several VMs are configured with vTPM to support Windows BitLocker encryption.

The administrator needs to perform a disaster recovery operation and restore the VMs on a different cluster. During the recovery, the administrator discovers that the encryption key backup file is unavailable.

What is the expected outcome for the vTPM-enabled VMs?

- A. The VMs will fail to start because BitLocker will not prompt for the recovery key on first boot.
- B. The VMs will fail to start because the vTPM keys cannot be recovered without the backup file.
- C. The VMs will fail to start successfully because the external KMS provides the vTPM keys directly to the new cluster.
- D. The VMs will start successfully with a new vTPM device automatically attached during the restore process.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 101

An administrator is troubleshooting intermittent VM I/O stalls that appear across hosts and clusters. The issue is sporadic, and the administrator needs to rapidly collect the correct platform logs for deeper analysis and possible escalation. The administrator wants to use a supported mechanism designed for efficient log collection, and must ensure the environment prerequisites are met so the tool can be used successfully.

Which option correctly describes the supported approach and a key prerequisite?

- A. Use ADS to export diagnostic bundles automatically whenever built-in log collection function detects contention hotspots.
- B. Use Logbay to collect logs, which is available once the node has a CVM deployed or the AHV compute node has been added to the cluster.
- C. Use Panacea to troubleshoot the incident, retrieving the required host and CVM logs directly, without first collecting a log bundle from the cluster.
- D. Use storage policy compliance reports and evaluations, include the underlying system logs needed to diagnose performance issues.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 102

An administrator configures network segmentation and places the Data Services IP (DSIP) in a secondary non-routable subnet while the cluster is registered to Prism Central. Prism Central cannot initiate or complete cluster upgrades. How should the administrator resolve this issue?

- A. Configure an additional DSIP within the original subnet used for PC communication.
- B. Disable segmentation on the local cluster until the next upgrade cycle.
- C. Use a single uplink because segmented networks do not tolerate redundancy.
- D. Enable proxy ARP within the Nutanix VLAN to establish reachability.
