Salesforce Order Management Administrator Accredited Professional Sample Questions (Q43-Q48):

NEW QUESTION # 43
An administrator is encountering errors when reusing a composite API call to load test orders via the Workbench. What are three possible causes of this issue?

- A. The number of subrequests in the JSON query exceeds the 20 subrequest limit
- B. The administrator has duplicate Product SKUs in the JSON query
- C. The administrator is creating multiple objects in a single JSON query
- D. The Administrator has logged into the wrong environment in Workbench
- E. Record IDs used within the request are incorrect

Answer: A,B,E

Explanation:
Explanation:
Three possible causes of this issue are:
The administrator has duplicate Product SKUs in the JSON query. A Product SKU is a unique identifier for a product that is used to track inventory and sales. A Product SKU must be unique within an org, and it cannot be duplicated in a composite API call. If the administrator has duplicate Product SKUs in the JSON query, it will cause an error when loading test orders via the Workbench.
The number of subrequests in the JSON query exceeds the 20 subrequest limit. A subrequest is a single HTTP request that is part of a composite API call. A composite API call can contain up to 20 subrequests in a single JSON body. If the administrator has more than 20 subrequests in the JSON query, it will cause an error when loading test orders via the Workbench.
Record IDs used within the request are incorrect. A record ID is a unique identifier for a record that is used to reference and manipulate data in Salesforce. A record ID must be valid and exist in the org, and it must match the data type and format of the corresponding field. If the administrator has incorrect record IDs in the JSON query, such as using 15-character IDs instead of 18-character IDs, or using IDs from a different org, it will cause an error when loading test orders via the Workbench.

NEW QUESTION # 44
How can an administrator allow an org to publish a change set to another org?

- A. In the target org: Open Deployment Settings, Click Edit next to the source org. Select Allow Inbound Changes and Click Save
- B. In the target org: Open Deployment Settings, Select the environments to allow publishing from and Move them to the Enabled list
- C. In the source org: open Deployment settings, Select the environments to publish to and Move them to the enabled list
- D. In the source org: Open Publish Settings, Select the checkbox next to the environment to publish to and Click Save

Answer: B

Explanation:
Explanation
The correct way for an administrator to allow an org to publish a change set to another org is to open Deployment Settings in the target org, select the environments to allow publishing from and move them to the Enabled list. This creates a deployment connection between the source org and the target org, which allows the source org to upload change sets to the target org. NEW QUESTION # 45
An administrator is running into performance issues due to a high number of records being created in a flow.
How can the administrator modify the flow to improve scalability?

- A. Offload the creation of records to a Subflow that will be called in the Reference Flow
- B. Ask a developer to create a Flowapex action to offload the creation of records
- C. Use the Bulk Create Records node in the Flow to improve performance
- D. Ask a developer to offload all the Flow functionality to Apex code via Triggers and Apex classes

Answer: C

Explanation:
The best way for an administrator to modify the flow to improve scalability when running into performance issues due to a high number of records being created in a flow is to use the Bulk Create Records node in the Flow. This node allows the administrator to create multiple records of the same object type in one transaction, which reduces the number of database operations and improves the flow performance.
