Appian Senior Developer Sample Questions (Q68-Q73):

NEW QUESTION # 68

A view is created with the primary table PERSON and is joined using a left join with the APPOINTMENT table on the column "PERSON_ID". There is a one-to-many relationship between the PERSON and APPOINTMENT tables.

A Custom Data Type (CDT) and a data store entity have been created based on this view, with the primary key being "PERSON_ID".

Review the data presented in the PERSON and APPOINTMENT tables:

- Which two statements are true when the following query entity is executed? (Choose two.)

- A. Appian makes one more query to the database(other than the actual query to fetch the data) to get the totalCount based on the applied filters and paging info.
- B. result totalCount is 1
- C. result totalCount is 3
- D. Appian makes one more query to the database(other than the actual query to fetch the data) to get the totalCount based on the applied filters.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

Appian makes an additional query to the database (other than the main query for data) to retrieve the totalCount when fetchTotalCount: true() is used.

The result totalCount is 1, as there is only one person (PERSON_ID 1101) being filtered, even though there are multiple "New" appointments for that person; with a CDT based on PERSON_ID as the primary key, only one row is counted per person.

NEW QUESTION # 69

You're reviewing the process model built by your team member.

Which two design decisions might cause performance issues? (Choose two.)

- A. Data types passed by reference
- B. Too many nodes
- C. Asynchronous subprocess
- D. No target process for the Send Message event

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

Having no target process for the Send Message event can cause unnecessary processing and delays.

Too many nodes in a process model increase complexity and processing overhead, leading to potential performance issues.

NEW QUESTION # 70

You notice that a process consumes a significant amount of memory. The process involves ingesting long strings from a web service and saving them to the database using a looping approach. The string output is saved to a process variable with data type Text.

Which two options will reduce the memory usage? (Choose two.)

- A. Evaluate each step in a separate script task and save the output to a process variable.
- B. Save the string output directly to the data structure to be written to the database.
- C. Configure the process to delete previously completed or cancelled instances.
- D. Ensure that all process variables have the option "Hidden" deselected.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

Saving the string output directly to the data structure for database writing avoids holding large text in process variables, reducing memory usage.

Deleting completed or cancelled process instances helps free up memory consumed by historical process data.

NEW QUESTION # 71

You're creating an application which has integrations with multiple systems using different protocols.

Match each process model component or node to the appropriate protocol.

Note: Each protocol will be used once. To change your responses, you may deselect your response by clicking the blank space at the top of the selection list.

NEW QUESTION # 72

You're conducting a design review.

You identify slow-performing expression rules querying a specific data store, and need to understand the "number of operations against data stores."

Which metric from the data_store_details.csv file is helpful to you?

- A. TCCCount
- B. Execute Count
- C. Query Count

Answer: C

Explanation:

The "Query Count" metric in the data_store_details.csv file indicates the number of operations (queries) performed against data stores, helping you analyze data store usage.
