Nutanix Certified Professional - Cloud Integration - Azure (NCP-CI-Azure v6.7) Sample Questions (Q41-Q46):

NEW QUESTION # 41

NC2 Azure API calls are failing and MCM no longer shows telemetry or health of the cluster. Where should the administrator look first?

- A. Check VPN/ExpressRoute
- B. Log into Prism and check alerts and notifications
- C. Check whitelisting of Outbound Communication
- D. SSH into the NC2 Azure CVMs

Answer: C

Explanation:

Outbound Communication Whitelisting: For NC2 Azure API calls and telemetry data to function correctly, certain outbound communications must be allowed. If these communications are not whitelisted, API calls can fail, and telemetry or health data might not be reported correctly.

First Check: Given the symptoms (failing API calls and missing telemetry), the first step should be to ensure that all necessary outbound communications are correctly whitelisted. This includes ensuring that endpoints and services required for NC2 operation are accessible.

NEW QUESTION # 42

An administrator deploys a new NC2 cluster in Azure in a new subscription. No VPN or Express Route exists. Which two actions will allow the administrator access to Prism Central to start the configuration? (Choose two.)

- A. Deploy a Jump Host VM instance in an external VNet and peer the VNets.
- B. Deploy a Jump Host VM instance and NAT Gateway in an external VNet and peer the VNets.
- C. Deploy a Jump Host VM instance in the Prism Central VNet inside a non-delegated subnet.
- D. Deploy a Jump Host VM instance in the Prism Central VNet inside a delegated subnet.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Jump Host VM in External VNet with VNet Peering:

Deploy Jump Host VM: Deploy a VM in an external VNet that is not within the same network as Prism Central.

VNet Peering: Establish VNet peering between the external VNet and the Prism Central VNet. This allows the Jump Host to communicate with Prism Central securely.

Jump Host VM in Prism Central VNet Inside a Delegated Subnet:

Deploy Jump Host VM: Deploy the Jump Host VM directly in the Prism Central VNet within a delegated subnet. This places the Jump Host in the same network environment as Prism Central, allowing direct access.

- A. Resource Manager
- B. Azure Monitor
- C. Azure Service Health
- D. Azure Network Watcher

Answer: B
