NCLEX-RN, also known as the National Council Licensure Examination for Registered Nurses, is a standardized exam that is used to determine whether or not an individual is qualified to become a registered nurse in the United States. NCLEX-RN exam is developed and administered by the National Council of State Boards of Nursing (NCSBN), which is responsible for ensuring that nurses meet the minimum standards required to provide safe and effective patient care. Passing the NCLEX-RN is a crucial step in obtaining licensure as a registered nurse.

To be eligible to take the NCLEX-RN Exam, nurses must first complete an accredited nursing program, either a diploma program, an associate degree program, or a bachelor's degree program. Once they have completed their program, they must apply for licensure with their state board of nursing and register with Pearson VUE, the organization that administers the exam. After registering, they will receive an Authorization to Test (ATT) and can schedule their exam date and location.

NCLEX National Council Licensure Examination(NCLEX-RN) Sample Questions (Q793-Q798):

NEW QUESTION # 793

A 40-year-old client has lived for 8 years with an abusive spouse. She married her husband in her senior year of high school after becoming pregnant. Shortly after the baby was born, he began to physically abuse her. She has attempted to leave him several times, but she has always returned. She is unable to support herself financially, and her husband threatens to kill her if she leaves him. This time, her husband has beaten her so badly she cannot stop the bleeding from the gash above her eye. She admits her husband caused her injury. In assessing a person after experiencing spousal abuse, which need has the highest priority?

- A. Assess suicide potential.
- B. Assess the level of anxiety, coping responses, and support systems.
- C. Assess drug and alcohol use.
- D. Assess the history of physical abuse.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Section: Questions Set E

Explanation:

(A) Assessing the level of anxiety, coping responses, and support systems is very important, but not of highest priority at this time. (B) A history of physical abuse is an important part of assessment. The nurses must also always ask if there is abuse of the children. (C) Although all of these answers are very important in assessment, the highest priority is assessment of suicide potential, because this could cause the greatest harm to the client. Feeling there is no other way out, abused spouses may consider suicide. (D) The spouse may be self-medicating herself with alcohol or drugs to escape an awful situation. The abuser may also be abusing drugs or alcohol. If this is so, the nurse should encourage the spouse to seek counseling and not to return to the home.

NEW QUESTION # 794

The client has been in active labor for the last 12 hours. During the last 3 hours, labor has been augmented with oxytocin because of hypoactive uterine contractions. Her physician assesses her cervix as 95% effaced, 8 cm dilated, and the fetus is at 0 station. Her oral temperature is 100.2F at this time. The physician orders that she be prepared for a cesarean delivery. In preparing the client for the cesarean delivery, which one of the following physician's orders should the RN question?

- A. Insert an indwelling Foley catheter prior to delivery.
- B. Discontinue the oxytocin infusion.
- C. Prepare abdominal area from below the nipples to below the symphysis pubis area.
- D. Administer meperidine (Demerol) 100 mg IM 1 hour prior to the delivery.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

(A) Meperidine is a narcotic analgesic medication that crosses the placental barrier and reaches the fetus, causing respiratory depression in the fetus. A narcotic medication should never be included in the preoperative order for a cesarean delivery. (B) Oxytocin infusion would be discontinued if client is being prepared for a cesarean delivery because the medication would not be needed. (C) The bladder is always emptied prior to and during the surgical intervention to prevent the urinary bladder from accidentally being incised while the uterine incision is made. (D) The abdominal area is always prepared to rid the area of hair before the abdominal incision is made. Abdominal hair cannot be sterilized and could become a source for postoperative incisional infection.

NEW QUESTION # 795

A 2-year-old child with a scalp laceration and subdural hematoma of the temporal area as a result of falling out of bed should be prevented from:

- A. Falling asleep
- B. Crying
- C. Rolling from his back to his tummy
- D. Sucking his thumb

Answer: B

Explanation:

(A) A child with a subdural hematoma has increased ICP. Crying may significantly increase this pressure. (B) Adequate sleep is essential, but it is important that the child can be aroused from sleep after head injury. (C) This child is free to roll from his back to his abdomen. (D) Thumb-sucking serves to reduce anxiety and should not be prevented at this time.

NEW QUESTION # 796

The nurse assesses a postoperative mastectomy client and notes that breath sounds are diminished in both posterior bases. The nurse's action should be to:

- A. Obtain arterial blood gases
- B. Encourage coughing and deep breathing each hour
- C. Remove the postoperative dressing to check for bleeding
- D. Increase O2 from 2-3 L/min

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

(A) Decreased or absent breath sounds are frequently indicators of postoperative atelectasis. (B) Arterial blood gases are not indicated because there is no other information indicating impending danger. (C) Increasing O2 rate is not indicated without additional information. (D) Removing the dressing is not indicated without additional information.

NEW QUESTION # 797

A 27-year-old male client is admitted to the acute care mental health unit for observation. He has recently lost his job, and his wife told him yesterday that she wants a divorce. The client is placed on suicide precautions. In assessing suicide potential, the nurse should pay close attention to the client's:

- A. Mood and affect
- B. Abstracting abilities
- C. Thought processes
- D. Level of insight

Answer: A

Explanation:

(A) Assessing the client's level of insight is an important part of the mental status exam (MSE), but it does not reflect suicide potential. (B) Assessing the client's thought processes is an important part of the MSE, but it does not reflect suicide potential. (C) Assessing the client's mood and affect is an important part of the MSE, and it can be a very valuable indicator of suicide potential. Frequently a client who has decided to proceed with suicide plans will exhibit a suddenly improved mood and affect. (D) Assessing a client's abstracting abilities is an important part of the MSE, but it does not reflect suicide potential.
