NEW QUESTION # 17

During what phase should a baseline of the Evolving Solution be put into operational use?

- A. Foundations
- B. Post-Project
- C. Deployment
- D. Evolutionary Development

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 18

What phase will create Solution increments?

- A. Foundations
- B. Evolutionary Development
- C. Deployment
- D. Feasibility

Answer: B

Explanation:

Solution increments are created during the Evolutionary Development phase. This phase is where the solution is developed iteratively, building on the firm foundations laid out in the previous phases¹. It involves creating increments of the product through time-boxed iterations, ensuring that the solution evolves in line with the project's objectives and business needs.

NEW QUESTION # 19

Identify the missing words in the agile Business Consortium's definition of Business Agility.

"A progressive, [?] approach to all aspects of business that is transforming how organizations ..."

- A. strategic focused
- B. technology focused
- C. collaborative
- D. people-centric

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Business Consortium's description of Business Agility emphasizes a progressive, people-centric approach. While tools and technology matter, agile ways of working prioritize empowered people, fast feedback, learning, and adaptive leadership across all business functions-not just IT. A people-centric stance enables rapid sensing and responding to change, closer customer collaboration, and continuous improvement of value streams. It underpins practices such as cross-functional teams, decentralized decision-making, iterative planning, and outcome-based metrics. Options like "strategic focused," "technology focused," and "collaborative" reflect important aspects of agility, but the defining adjective used in the Consortium's phrasing is people-centric, capturing the primacy of culture, leadership behaviors, and human interactions in achieving genuine business agility.
