Appian Certified Analyst Sample Questions (Q37-Q42):

NEW QUESTION # 37

As an Appian Analyst, which activity are you responsible for during the "optimize" phase of a project?

- A. Structure an application support team
- B. Conduct release planning
- C. Build the deployment pipeline
- D. Measure the impact of application release

Answer: D

Explanation:

During the "optimize" phase of an Appian project, the focus is on evaluating and improving the performance and impact of the application after its release. As an Appian Analyst, your role in this phase involves measuring the impact of the application release, which includes gathering and analyzing data on user adoption, performance metrics, and overall business impact. This data-driven approach helps in identifying areas for improvement and optimization to ensure the application continues to meet business objectives effectively. Appian Documentation - Application Lifecycle Management Note: The other options (A, B, C) are typically the responsibilities of other roles in different phases of the project, such as developers or project managers, and not specific to the "optimize" phase for an Appian Analyst.

NEW QUESTION # 38

During the development phase, a feature was identified that was not initially part of the project scope but is now considered crucial. What should the Appian Analyst do?

- A. Immediately add the feature to the current sprint
- B. Reject the feature as it was not part of the original scope
- C. Wait until the next project phase to include the feature
- D. Escalate the feature request to the Product Owner for re-prioritization

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 39

You are part of a project team building an application for organizing and automating an approval process for purchase orders. Each purchase order requires approvals from multiple users within the application, and these approvals are sequential (for example, User B receives an approval task after the completion of User A's approval task). Your team is responsible for showing the approval step of each purchase order on its purchase order record.

Which Appian interface component should you use to best display the completed, current, and future approval steps for each purchase order?

- A. Org Chart Component
- B. Progress Bar Component
- C. Gauge Component
- D. Milestone Component

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Milestone Component in Appian is the best choice for displaying the completed, current, and future approval steps of each purchase order. This component visually represents the progression of a process with distinct milestones, making it ideal for sequential tasks like approvals. Each milestone can indicate whether the step is completed, active, or pending, providing a clear and intuitive view of the approval process for users. Appian Documentation - Milestone Component Note: The Progress Bar Component (A) is more suited for linear progress representation rather than distinct stages. The Gauge Component (B) and Org Chart Component (D) are not appropriate for this type of sequential task display.

NEW QUESTION # 40

Your team is developing an application in which users can submit SOW requests. The application homepage in sites should contain a link that when pressed, navigates users through the request forms within the site.

Which Appian link type should be used on the homepage for new request submissions?

- A. Start Process Link
- B. Submit Link
- C. Dynamic Link
- D. Authorization Link

Answer: A

Explanation:

The "Start Process Link" in Appian is used to initiate a process directly from a site page. In this case, when users press the link on the homepage, it should navigate them through the request forms within the site. The Start Process Link is designed for scenarios where a new process instance needs to be started, such as submitting a Statement of Work (SOW) request.

Start Process Link Overview:

This link type allows users to start a new process directly, leading them into the forms or steps defined in the process model.

It is ideal for initiating workflows, such as submitting new requests or forms within an application.

Why Not Other Options?:

A . Authorization Link: Typically used for authorization or access control, not for starting a new process.

B . Submit Link: Used for submitting forms within a process, not for starting a new process.

C . Dynamic Link: Provides general navigation or actions within an interface but does not start a process.

The Start Process Link is the appropriate choice to navigate users through the request submission forms in the application.

NEW QUESTION # 41

You need to draft user stories.

What are the three most important requirements to collect?

- A. User Experience
- B. Security
- C. Report Filters
- D. Process Workflow steps
- E. Branding

Answer: A,B,D

Explanation:

When drafting user stories, the most important requirements to collect are those that directly impact the functionality, security, and user experience of the application. These elements ensure that the application not only meets the user's needs but also adheres to best practices in development.

Security (A):

Ensuring that the application is secure is paramount. Security requirements define how user data is protected and how access is controlled within the system.

This includes authentication, authorization, data encryption, and compliance with relevant regulations.

Process Workflow Steps (B):

Understanding the specific steps involved in the process is crucial for accurately capturing how the application should function.

Detailed workflow steps ensure that the application automates and supports the business process as intended.

User Experience (E):

The user experience (UX) defines how users interact with the application, including the interface design, ease of use, and overall satisfaction.

Capturing UX requirements ensures that the application is intuitive and meets the users' needs.

Why Not Other Options?:

C . Report Filters: While important, they are more specific to reporting functionality and not always a core component of every user story.

D . Branding: Branding requirements are typically considered during the design phase, but they are less critical in the functional drafting of user stories.
