What is one recommended practice for Scrum Masters/Team Coaches when coaching teams on presenting a draft plan at PI Planning?

- A. Secure support from other teams on how work will be shared and completed
- B. Ensure the team has Stories written for the first two Iterations of the increment
- C. Identify as many risks and dependencies as possible for the management review
- D. Align on how the team will answer questions about their proposed objectives

Answer: D

Explanation:

One recommended practice for Scrum Masters/Team Coaches when coaching teams on presenting a draft plan at PI Planning is to align on how the team will answer questions about their proposed objectives. This practice helps the team to prepare for the feedback and input they will receive from the business owners, product management, and other teams and stakeholders during the draft plan review. The team should agree on who will present the objectives, how they will explain the business value and technical feasibility, and how they will handle any objections or concerns. The team should also rehearse their presentation and anticipate potential questions and scenarios. By aligning on how to answer questions, the team can increase their confidence and clarity, and demonstrate their commitment and alignment to the vision and goals of the ART.
