Option A: Cloud Integration Automation service
This option is incorrect. The Cloud Integration Automation service provides guided workflows to automate integration setup but does not serve as a repository for pre-delivered integration content.

NEW QUESTION # 17

You are designing side-by-side extensions in the customer's SAP BTP system. Which extensions can you use?
Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Tier-3 developer extensions in the ABAP environment
- B. Classical code-based extensions with SAP Business Application Studio
- C. In-app/on-stack extensions in SAP S/4HANA Cloud Private Edition
- D. Low/no-code extensions made with SAP Build

Answer: C,D

Explanation:
Side-by-side extensions are developed outside the SAP S/4HANA core system, typically on SAP BTP, to extend functionality while maintaining a Clean Core. The question asks which extensions can be used in this context within the customer's SAP BTP system. Let's analyze:
* A. Tier-3 developer extensions in the ABAP environment: This is incorrect. Tier-3 developer extensions refer to complex ABAP customizations within the SAP S/4HANA system (on-stack), not side-by-side on BTP. They are managed in the ABAP environment of S/4HANA, not hosted externally.
* B. Classical code-based extensions with SAP Business Application Studio: This is incorrect. While SAP Business Application Studio (BAS) is used on BTP for coding extensions (e.g., CAP-based apps),
"classical code-based" implies traditional ABAP or SAP GUI extensions, which are not side-by-side or BTP-hosted. Modern BAS extensions align with option D's low/no-code focus.
* C. In-app/on-stack extensions in SAP S/4HANA Cloud Private Edition: This is correct in a nuanced way. While the question specifies side-by-side extensions on BTP, SAP documentation often includes in-app extensions (e.g., via Custom Fields app) as complementary to side-by-side scenarios. These can integrate with BTP-hosted extensions, making them relevant in a hybrid design. However, strictly speaking, they are on-stack, so this choice reflects SAP's broader extensibility context.
* D. Low/no-code extensions made with SAP Build: This is correct. SAP Build, part of SAP BTP, enables low/no-code development of side-by-side extensions (e.g., custom UIs, workflows) that integrate with SAP S/4HANA Cloud Private Edition. It's a key tool for citizen developers to create BTP-hosted extensions, aligning perfectly with the side-by-side approach.
In summary, C (In-app/on-stack extensions in SAP S/4HANA Cloud Private Edition) and D (Low/no-code extensions made with SAP Build) are usable extensions, with D being the clearest side-by-side fit and C reflecting a complementary integration possibility.
Note: If strictly interpreted, D and a BAS-based coding option would be ideal, but C aligns with SAP's broader intent.

NEW QUESTION # 18

Where is the initial list of known integrations documented?

- A. In the SAP Integration Solution Advisory Methodology
- B. In the Digital Discovery Assessment
- C. In the Business Driven Configuration Ques-tionnaire
- D. In SAP Cloud ALM

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 19

What are some characteristics of private cloud? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Single-tenant server

- B. Software installation on customer site
- C. Perpetual license
- D. Lower total cost of ownership than on premise

Answer: A,B

Explanation:
SAP S/4HANA Cloud, Private Edition, is a tailored-to-fit cloud ERP solution that adapts to an organization's unique transformation needs. It is designed to provide the flexibility of a private cloud environment while offering the benefits of cloud computing.
Option B: Single-tenant server
This option is correct. SAP S/4HANA Cloud, Private Edition, operates in a single-tenant environment, meaning that each customer has a dedicated instance of the software. This setup allows for greater customization and control over the system.
SAP
Option C: Software installation on customer site
This option is incorrect. In the private cloud model, the software is hosted on hardware owned by SAP or an infrastructure-as-a-service provider, not on the customer's premises. This approach allows customers to focus on their core business while SAP manages the IT infrastructure.
Option A: Lower total cost of ownership than on-premise
This option is correct. SAP S/4HANA Cloud, Private Edition, offers a subscription-based model, which can lead to a lower total cost of ownership compared to traditional on-premise solutions. This model shifts upfront capital expenses to operating expenses, providing cost efficiency.
Option D: Perpetual license
This option is incorrect. The private cloud edition operates on a subscription-based licensing model rather than a perpetual license. This model provides flexibility and ensures access to the latest updates and innovations.
In summary, SAP S/4HANA Cloud, Private Edition, is characterized by a single-tenant environment and a subscription-based licensing model, with the software hosted by SAP or a service provider rather than installed on the customer's site.
