- C. Retraining Pipelines
- D. Data Acquisition / Ingest / Capture

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 54
The confusion matrix measures how the algorithm performs for a binary classification activity. As your team is running tests to evaluate model performance, they are seeing the model is incorrectly categorizing flowers as trees. Your model is provided the following:

- A. True Positive results
- B. True Negative results
- C. False Positive results
- D. False Negative results

Answer: C

A false positive occurs when the model predicts the positive class (e.g., "tree") but the actual label is negative (e.g., "flower"). The confusion matrix definition confirms that mislabeling a negative instance as positive maps to the false positive count.

- B. Develop a unique profile of each individual, and have that profile both learn and adapt over time as well as be programmed for a wide variety of purposes
- C. Develop a unique profile of each type of individual, and have that profile stay the same over the lifetime of that user
- D. Develop a unique profile of each individual, and have that profile learn and adapt over time for a wide variety of purposes
