NEW QUESTION # 51

Which of the following tools has the potential for serious disruption of a control network and should not be used on a live system?

Available Choices (select all choices that are correct)

- A. Remote desktop
- B. Web browser
- C. Vulnerability scanner
- D. FTP

Answer: C

Explanation:

A vulnerability scanner is a tool that scans a network or a system for known vulnerabilities, such as misconfigurations, outdated software, or weak passwords. A vulnerability scanner can provide valuable information for improving the security posture of a system, but it can also cause serious disruption of a control network if used on a live system. This is because a vulnerability scanner may generate a large amount of network traffic, consume system resources, trigger alarms, or even crash devices by exploiting vulnerabilities.

Therefore, a vulnerability scanner should not be used on a live system without proper authorization and precautions. A vulnerability scanner should only be used on a test or isolated network, or during a scheduled maintenance window with minimal impact on the system operation. - A. Network monitor
- B. Packet filter
- C. Application proxy
- D. Stateful inspection

Answer: A

Explanation:

Packet filter, application proxy, and stateful inspection are all recognized types or classes of firewalls in both IT and industrial control environments. A network monitor, on the other hand, is not considered a firewall but rather a tool for observing and analyzing network traffic. It does not provide firewall-like controls for blocking or allowing traffic.

Reference: ISA/IEC 62443-3-3:2013, Section 4.2.3.3 ("Types of firewalls"); ISA/IEC 62443-1-1:2007, Section 3.2.6.

NEW QUESTION # 53

What is the primary goal of the Assess phase in the IACS Cybersecurity Lifecycle?

- A. To ensure the Achieved Security Level (SL-A) meets the Target Security Level (SL-T)
- B. To assign a Target Security Level (SL-T)
- C. To conduct periodic audits
- D. To implement countermeasures

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the Assess phase of the IACS Cybersecurity Lifecycle (as defined in ISA/IEC 62443-2-1 and 62443-3-2), the main objective is to identify assets, analyze risks, and assign a Target Security Level (SL-T) for each zone or conduit. This sets the foundation for design and implementation decisions. Achieving or verifying the SL- A (Achieved Security Level) occurs later in the lifecycle, after implementation.

Reference: ISA/IEC 62443-2-1:2009, Section 5.2; ISA/IEC 62443-3-2:2020, Section 5 ("Risk assessment and SL-T assignment").
