IAPP Certified Information Privacy Professional/United States (CIPP/US) Sample Questions (Q152-Q157):

NEW QUESTION # 152

Once a breach has been definitively established, which task should be prioritized next?

- A. Determining what was responsible for the breach and neutralizing the threat.
- B. Involving law enforcement and state Attorneys General.
- C. Implementing remedial measures and evaluating how to prevent future breaches.
- D. Providing notice to the affected parties so they can take precautionary measures.

Answer: D

Explanation:

According to the IAPP CIPP/US study guide, the first priority after a breach has been confirmed is to notify the affected individuals, regulators, and other stakeholders as required by law or contract. This is to allow them to take steps to protect themselves from potential harm, such as identity theft, fraud, or reputational damage. Providing timely and accurate notice also helps to mitigate legal liability, preserve customer trust, and comply with applicable laws and regulations. The other tasks are also important, but they are not the immediate priority after a breach has been established. References: IAPP CIPP/US study guide, Chapter 6, Section 6.4.2, page 211.

NEW QUESTION # 153

Which of the following laws is NOT involved in the regulation of employee background checks?

- A. The California Investigative Consumer Reporting Agencies Act (ICRAA).
- B. The U.S. Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA).
- C. The Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (GLBA).
- D. The Civil Rights Act.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The law that is not involved in the regulation of employee background checks is B. The Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (GLBA). The GLBA is a federal law that regulates the privacy and security of financial information collected, used, or shared by financial institutions, such as banks, insurance companies, or securities firms. The GLBA does not apply to employee background checks, unless the employer is a financial institution that obtains financial information from a consumer reporting agency for employment purposes. In that case, the employer must comply with the GLBA's notice and opt-out requirements, as well as the FCRA's requirements for using consumer reports. References:

- A. The children's first and last names
- B. Any picture showing the child's face
- C. Gamer Tags or other User IDs
- D. Identifying favorite shows on streaming services

Answer: D

Explanation:

Identifying favorite shows or selecting viewing preference such as genre would not be personal information since it cannot identify the person.

NEW QUESTION # 155

What consumer service was the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) originally intended to provide?

- A. The ability to receive reports from multiple credit reporting agencies.
- B. The ability to appeal negative credit-based decisions.
- C. The ability to correct inaccurate credit information.
- D. The ability to investigate incidents of identity theft.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 156

Which authority supervises and enforces laws regarding advertising to children via the Internet?

- A. The Federal Trade Commission
- B. The Department of Homeland Security
- C. The Federal Communications Commission
- D. The Office for Civil Rights

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) is the primary federal agency that regulates advertising and marketing practices in the United States, including those targeting children via the Internet. The FTC enforces the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA), which requires operators of websites and online services directed to children under 13 to obtain verifiable parental consent before collecting, using, or disclosing personal information from children. The FTC also enforces the FTC Act, which prohibits unfair or deceptive acts or practices in commerce, such as making false or misleading claims in advertising. The FTC has issued guidelines and reports on various aspects of digital advertising to children, such as sponsored content, influencers, data collection, persuasive design, and behavioral marketing. The FTC also hosts workshops and events to examine the impact of digital advertising on children and their ability to distinguish ads from entertainment. References:
