NEW QUESTION # 229
What is the Release Train Engineer's (RTE's) role during the final plan review during PI Planning?

- A. Verify that each team's uncommitted objectives have lower business value than the committed PI Objectives to reflect proper prioritization
- B. Encourage discussion of each team's product Vision as part of the final plan review
- C. Manage the ROAMing of each team's risks
- D. Facilitate all teams when they are presenting their final plans to the entire ART

Answer: D

Explanation:
The Release Train Engineer (RTE) plays a pivotal role during the final plan review in PI Planning. The RTE's responsibilities include facilitating the event where all teams present their final plans to the entire Agile Release Train (ART). This involves guiding the discussions and ensuring that the presentations align with the overall objectives of the ART. The RTE does not solely verify the business value of uncommitted objectives (A) or focus only on encouraging discussions of each team's product vision (B), although these may be part of the broader responsibilities. Managing the ROAMing of risks (D) is also part of the RTE's role, but it is not the primary activity during the final plan review. Instead, the RTE ensures that the final plans are communicated effectively to all members of the ART, fostering transparency and alignment1.

NEW QUESTION # 230
What does transparency mean in a scrum environment?

- A. The team is constantly improving its process
- B. The process is visible to all stakeholders
- C. Development and Operations teams work together
- D. Team members must immediately share any and all feedback with each other

Answer: B

Explanation:
In a scrum environment, transparency is crucial as it allows all stakeholders to have visibility into the project' s progress and challenges. This visibility is essential for trust, timely feedback, and alignment of expectations.
It ensures that everyone has a clear understanding of the work being done, which is fundamental in Agile practices. Transparency in SAFe is achieved through various means, such as making the Program Board visible during PI Planning, conducting System Demos, and summarizing Team PI Objectives into Program PI Objectives for visibility12. This approach helps in creating a shared understanding and enables informed decision-making throughout the course of the project.\

What does assigning business value to a team's Pl Objectives influence?

- A. How to achieve objectives
- B. How the Kanban work in process limits are set
- C. How teams plan the implementation

Answer: C

Explanation:
Assigning business value to PI Objectives influences how teams plan the implementation of these objectives.
During PI Planning, teams create PI objectives they intend to accomplish in the upcoming PI. These objectives provide a common language for communicating with business and technology stakeholders, create a near-term focus and vision, enable the ART to assess its performance and the business value achieved, and expose dependencies that require coordination. By assigning business value, teams can prioritize their work based on the relative importance of each objective, which directly affects how they plan their implementation efforts. This process helps to ensure alignment with business goals and facilitates a more effective and efficient approach to achieving the desired outcomes1.
