ISTQB Certified Tester Usability Tester Sample Questions (Q21-Q26):

NEW QUESTION # 21

Your last 20-pages usability test report wasn't received well by the developers; only two of the 25 usability problems have been fixed. This time, you want to stick to the best practices in order to obtain better acceptance by the development team.

What are you going to do differently this time?

- A. Make the report more detailed and longer
- B. Include positive findings in the report, not only usability problems
- C. Add the low-priority findings you didn't include in the first report
- D. Include contact details of the test participants so that the development team can contact them in case they have questions

Answer: B

Explanation:

Usability test reports are more effective when they are balanced and include not only problems but also what worked well. Including positive findings increases credibility, encourages the development team, and helps them understand what should remain unchanged. Option B violates privacy and ethical standards. Option C may dilute focus, and D could worsen the problem by making the report less accessible. Thus, the best practice supported by usability.gov and Nielsen Norman Group is to include both positive and negative findings.

NEW QUESTION # 22

You are asked to evaluate the usability of a software application for a law firm. Due to time and budget constraints, it is not possible to include users in the evaluation process.

Which of the following is a valid approach for evaluating the usability in this case?

- A. Usability testing
- B. User surveys
- C. Usability Review
- D. Accessibility Evaluation

Answer: C

Explanation:

When actual users cannot be included, a usability review (often an expert or heuristic evaluation) is the most practical method. Trained evaluators examine the interface against usability principles and standards to identify potential issues. Surveys require user input, and usability testing cannot proceed without users.

Accessibility evaluation targets inclusivity for users with impairments, which is related but not a substitute for overall usability evaluation. Therefore, option A is the only valid method under these constraints.

NEW QUESTION # 23

In the last project, the usability tests substantially exceeded the budget of the test plan. Which quality control task could have been used to avoid this?

- A. Check whether the usability test report conforms to the best practices
- B. Check that the usability test plan has been properly reviewed
- C. Check consumed resources regularly and compare with the estimates
- D. Check that findings are communicated to the stakeholders

Answer: C

Explanation:

To prevent usability testing from exceeding budget, active monitoring and control of project resources are critical. The best practice is to regularly check consumed time, costs, and effort against the original estimates, allowing timely adjustments to scope or resources. This is a classic quality control practice aligned with ISO 9001 principles and standard project management methodologies. Option A relates to test preparation, option C concerns reporting and communication, and option D applies after test execution. Only option B deals directly with budget control during the test.

NEW QUESTION # 24

A "usability requirement" is:

- A. A requirement needed to define the size of a mobile phone used in a usability test
- B. A requirement how to conduct a usability test
- C. A requirement needed for a usability tester
- D. A requirement on the usability of a component or system

Answer: D

Explanation:

A usability requirement specifies how usable a product or component must be, often in terms of effectiveness, efficiency, and user satisfaction, as defined in ISO 9241-11. These requirements ensure that the product meets specific human-centered design goals, such as allowing users to complete tasks accurately and quickly.

Options A and C describe procedural or test setup elements, not actual usability requirements. Option B refers to personnel qualifications, which are not the same as usability requirements related to system behavior or performance.

NEW QUESTION # 25

During a usability test, a user suggested that a quick search box on every page would help a lot for several of the main tasks. You added this finding to the list.

What's the correct classification for these kinds of findings?

- A. Good idea
- B. Functional problem
- C. Usability problem
- D. Positive finding

Answer: A

Explanation:

In usability evaluations, a distinction is made between actual usability problems (where a user struggles to complete a task or is confused by the interface) and suggestions or ideas that users provide based on their preferences or perceived improvements. When a participant offers a new feature idea (such as a quick search box), this is classified as a "good idea" or "feature suggestion," not necessarily a usability problem. It may inform future design enhancements but does not indicate a failure in usability for existing functionality.
