OCPE Pesticide Applicator Category 7A General and Household Pest Control Exam Sample Questions (Q27-Q32):

NEW QUESTION # 27

To get the most effective control of rats using poison baits, you need to:

- A. Place the baits out at night and remove them at dawn
- B. Reduce or eliminate food sources
- C. Place the baits out at dawn and remove them at night

Answer: B

Explanation:

Effective rat control with poison baits requires reducing or eliminating food sources to ensure rats are attracted to the bait rather than alternative food. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 8: Rodents) emphasizes this IPM approach, as rats will ignore baits if other food is available. Option A and Option B (placing/removing baits at specific times) are impractical and less effective, as rats are nocturnal but may feed at other times.

NEW QUESTION # 28

To help prevent pesticide resistance, IPM suggests:

- A. Use of multiple components in the control of a pest population
- B. Routine preventative spraying
- C. Increased dosage to knock out initial infestation

Answer: A

Explanation:

Pesticide resistance occurs when pests develop tolerance to a pesticide due to overuse. IPM strategies, as outlined in the General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 4: IPM), recommend using multiple components (e.g., rotating pesticide classes, incorporating non-chemical methods like sanitation or traps) to control pests and reduce resistance risk. Option A (routine spraying) increases resistance by overexposing pests to the same chemical. Option C (increased dosage) can exacerbate resistance and is not an IPM practice.

NEW QUESTION # 29

The most frequently reported vector-borne illness is:

- A. Lyme Disease
- B. Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever
- C. Tick Paralysis

Answer: A

Explanation:

Lyme Disease is the most frequently reported vector-borne illness in the U.S., including New Jersey, transmitted by the blacklegged tick. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 7: Ticks) highlights its prevalence, with thousands of cases reported annually. Option A (Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever) is less common. Option B (Tick Paralysis) is rare and not a disease but a condition caused by tick bites.

NEW QUESTION # 30

At multi-family residences, the applicator business shall provide a notice to each occupied unit how far in advance?

- A. Prior to treatment
- B. 48 hours
- C. 24 hours

Answer: A

Explanation:

NJDEP regulations (N.J.A.C. 7:30-9.13) require that multi-family residences receive notice prior to treatment, but the exact timeframe is not specified as 24 or 48 hours in the regulation. Best practice, as noted in the General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 2: Notification Requirements), is to provide notice in advance, typically at least 24 hours, but the regulation itself uses the general term "prior." Option B (24 hours) and Option C (48 hours) are specific timeframes not mandated by the regulation.

NEW QUESTION # 31

The yellow jacket is a:

- A. Social bee usually nesting in trees
- B. Ant with wings
- C. Solitary wasp nesting in the ground
- D. Social wasp usually nesting in the ground

Answer: D

Explanation:

Yellow jackets are social wasps that typically nest in the ground, often in abandoned rodent burrows or other cavities. They live in colonies with a queen and workers, as described in the General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 7: Wasps). Option B (social bee) is incorrect, as yellow jackets are wasps, not bees, and they do not typically nest in trees. Option C (solitary wasp) is incorrect, as yellow jackets are social. Option D (ant with wings) is incorrect, as yellow jackets are distinct from ants.
